TODAY CARDINAL MERCIER OF BELGIUM DEAD

All to the Rock Pile.
A Long Alphabet.
Nelly and Joe.
A Detroit Solomon.

Congressman Summers, earnest "dry" Republican from Washington, knows how to fix everything. He would put senators, diplomats, rich and poor violators of the prohibition law, "at work on the same rock pile."

Editors would go to the rocks, not so much for drinking as for "doing more to break down respect for law than all the Anarchists that ever landed on Ellis Island."

Mr. Yen, Chinese gentleman, formerly at Yale and Princeton, heads a movement to educate all Chinese, and starts, as he must, with an effort to simplify the Chinese alphabet. The best he hopes for is to cut down the number of characters to one thousand. To be really educated in China you must know at least five thousand different characters with which to write.

Patient mothers that have taught the 26 letters of our alphabet to little boys and girls will predict that universal education in China will proceed slowly.

Look at your Chinese laundry tickets and you will see what stands between China and universal education.

Ethelbert Stewart, who gathers labor statistics for the government, demands "petting parks" in public spaces for working men and women.

"Nelly from the shoe factory can stand a little petting in a public park by Joe from the stockyards," says the official. He thinks our laws governing the parks are too Puritanical.

Others will suggest that it might be well to persuade Nelly and Joe to set a good example before the so-called "upper classes" by refraining from physical demonstrations of affection in public.

Is Solomon looks down and watches Detroit he learned something last Wednesday.

Mrs. Goosen, foster mother, and Mrs. Przybia, real mother of four-year-old Mabel Irene, both wanted the child. Judge Brennan could not pretend to cut the child in two and get information that way, but had what seemed a better idea.

A motion picture machine and operator, hidden from sight, took pictures of the two women's faces as the judge solemnly announced his decision to send the little girl to an orphan asylum.

On the moving pictures Mrs. Goosen's face showed more grief, more "biological emotional reaction," the judge called it, than the face of poor Mrs. Przybia. So Mrs. Goosen got the child.

The reporters are not convinced. They say emotion is sometimes not shown on the face, also that a child's real mother might be too much in earnest to display the proper waves of affection.

Or the adopted mother might have been "tipped off" to "register love" he might say.

FIGHT THIS ENEMY NOW

For centuries the world has fought rats, but always in a disorganized way and therefore ineffectually.

The best way to go after them is to deny them hiding places and food.

These pests breed at a great rate, and if they find favorable conditions, soon threaten to overrun any place.

Learn how to protect your home from these disease carriers. The government has investigated how to do it, and has a free publication on the subject. Our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy of this booklet for any of our readers who fill out and mail the coupon below. Enclose two cents in stamps to pay return postage, and be sure to write your name and address clearly on the lines of the coupon.

Discuss Advisability of Community Chest in City.

Daylight savings for East Liverpool was endorsed by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the reorganization meeting in the Little building, last evening.

Regardless of the action of city council on the plan to advance all clocks one hour during the latter part of April, most of the manufacturers and some of the larger business houses will adopt the new time this summer, the board was advised. Officials of the Industrial Baseball league are sponsors of the plan to re-establish the "war time" here.

Officers of the chamber were re-elected for another year. They include: President, Joseph Betz; first vice president, J. T. Croxall; second vice president, D. M. Ogilvie; third vice president, J. M. Manor; treasurer, T. E. Lewis; secretary, H. B. Barth.

Emmanuel Church Members' Meeting At 11 a. m. Sunday

A congregational meeting will be held in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The question of filling the vacancy caused by the death of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Clark, who succumbed Jan. 15, will be discussed.

HIS LAST WISH IS NOT FULFILLED

"There's Nothing More to Wait For Now, Except Expression of Divine Will," Farewell Message.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 23.—Cardinal Mercier, courageous in his struggle against death as he was in his defiance of the Germans when they invaded Belgium, died today.

The famous prelate, who was in his 75th year, succumbed to the effects of an operation performed more than a fortnight ago for stomach trouble. He had made a valiant fight for life, but his strength failed him and he died without fulfillment of his last wish, that he might be taken to Malines, the seat of his archbishopric, to die.

Night of Death Agony.

The cardinal died at 3:02 this afternoon, after a night of death agony. The prelate was last conscious at 8 a. m. today, and shortly afterward lapsed into unconsciousness. Members of his family, as well as trusted old servants, were at his bedside when death came.

"There is nothing more to wait for now, except the expression of the divine will," the reverend prelate said to those at his bedside, making the sign of the cross, and lapsing into a coma early today. These are believed to have been his last words. His two nephews had just said a last Mass for the prelate, who throughout the night had heard the melancholy chant of the prayer of agony said by priests in the corridors of the hospital of St. Jean and St. Elizabeth.

Church bells throughout Brussels tolled the news of the death of the beloved Cardinal, who is more than a churchman, for he has become a national hero through his courageous stand for Belgium and the Belgians.

Ted Wardles Faces Municipal Court on Fowl Theft Charge

Ted Wardles will face Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, Monday afternoon, upon a charge of breaking and entering, filed by Samuel Lehman, who accuses Wardles of the theft of several chickens. He was arrested yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty.

G. R. Oberlander, driver of a Canton-East Liverpool bus, who is alleged to have violated the traffic ordinance by driving through a red block at the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, last evening, was fined $1 and costs amounting to $6.50. Oberlander was arrested by Captain Conley.

POLICE PROBE SLUM WORK OF ARSENIC PLOT VICTIM HERE

New York Organization Asks About Late Rev. William Christy.

LETTERS FOUND

Self-confessed Slayer Now Inmate of Lima Hospital.

Police today received an inquiry from Rev. W. H. Collinson, New York state leader of the United Christian Workers of America, Inc., 675-677 238th street, Bronx, New York, inquiring about the operations of the so-called United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America, of which Rev. William Christy, who died recently of arsenic administered by his wife, Mrs. Laura Christy, was the brigadier general.

Rev. Mr. Collinson advised that Chief Hugh McDermott, asserted that his organization has no representative in Ohio.

Stationery and other literature found by the police among the personal effects of the itinerant preacher, listed him as one of the organizers of the United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America, which is said to be incorporated under the laws of Ohio.

Son is General-in-Chief. Rev. Carl W. Christy, East St. Louis, Mo., son of the late poison victim, is general-in-chief of the organization, while A. M. Christy, Akron, another son, is secretary. Others officers included W. Brown and Francis Wilson, said to be residents of Akron. Headquarters of the organization are located at 151 Cutler Place, Park Way, East Akron, which is also the address of Mrs. George Smith, a daughter of the deceased.

"We feed the hungry; we visit the sick and afflicted; the orphans and the widows; bring hope to the hopeless," reads an appeal on several hundred solicitor's blanks found in Christy's suitcase. "We give our time and our talents to this work. There is no day too cold or night too dark for us to go when the summons comes for help and for that reason we ask you to help us in this work of love in the way you think best. We come to you and ask that you help us in our work of mercy by giving either a small or large donation in money or goods to

Special Patrolman James Malone Quits Job as Solons Act

James Malone, one of the "five dollar-a-month" police officers, whose position is affected by the abolition ordinance considered by the city solons at their meeting Thursday evening, turned in his equipment at the city hall today.

Malone left his flashlight, handcuffs and keys with Desk Sergeant Auderheide and he turned over to Chief McDermott. Other special officers who are still on the city pay roll, are: George Dawson and Walter Torrence.

Durkin, 'Sheik' Bandit, Loses 'Hero Pose' As He Faces Trial

Condemned Slayers Sneer at Prisoner Who Deserted Faithful Chicago Girl for Smile of Village Maiden.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Martin J. Durkin was faced with reality today.

Shut out by the bars and concrete walls of the cells of "murderers' row" in the Cook county jail is the hero worship of hysteria-crazed women.

The "hero pose" is crushed by the sneers and disdain of the slayers awaiting the noose who turned thumbs down on the man who deserted faithful Betty Werner for the smile and allure of Irma Sullivan because "he was lonely."

But worst of all to the man who was "brave" behind his guns but covered before a twist on the arm with out them was the fact that famous counsel on whom he depended to save his neck from the rope have turned aside until some assurance can be given that there is money for his defense.

Two Cleveland Men Given Prison Terms By Lisbon Jurist

A sentence of from one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary was given W. C. Beverly, alias W. George P. Brainerd, and Eugene Postle, both of Cleveland, by Judge R. R. Eastman, of Ottawa, yesterday afternoon, when they changed their pleas of not guilty to that of guilty on an indictment charging obtaining money under false pretense.

Mrs. Hannah Kirkham Given $750 Verdict In Damage Suit

A verdict of $750 was returned in favor of Mrs. Hannah Kirkham, of this city, against the International Pulp Stone company, by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon. She sued for $1,000 damages to her property by reason of a concrete culvert which the company caused to be constructed along Carpenter's Run in California Hollow. The plaintiff charged that the culvert was not of a sufficient size to carry off the water in the run at certain times of the year and that as a result her property was flooded by back water.

DONALD PARSONS IS FINED $100

Donald Parsons, Hammondsville, is in jail today in default of a $100 fine assessed against him by Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley this morning on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor.

Parsons was arrested in the Diamond by Patrolman Roth last night. Seven pop bottles filled with corn liquor are said to have been found in his machine.

15 BELIEVED MISSING AND 14 INJURED AT ALLEN TOWN, PA.

Blaze Sweeps Lafayette
Hostelry Housing 47
Persons.

ESCAPE CUT OFF

Flames Sweep up Elevator Shafts and Stairways.

ALLEN TOWN, Pa., Jan. 23. Nine dead, fifteen missing and fourteen injured, three of whom may die.

This is the toll exacted by fire of unknown origin which early today swept through the Lafayette hotel here, turning it into a death trap and causing many of the 47 guests to leap from windows in scanty attire.

Heavy Property Damage. The blaze started at 2:30 a. m. and was still burning at 8 o'clock, when frantic firemen and police, aided by citizens combed the ruins for remains of the trapped guests. Only ten of those registered at the hotel escaped injury. They were occupants of rooms on the second and third floors and were carried to safety by firemen.

The structure, a five-story one, was a complete ruin. It was the most disastrous fire in Allentown's history, according to citizens and estimated hundreds of thousands of dollars damage. Nine bodies, most of them charred beyond recognition, were removed from the hotel. All of the injured were taken to the Allentown and Sacred Heart hospitals.

Two Firemen Injured.

Two firemen, LeRoy Koplinhaver and George Reinhart, suffered severe injuries when they slipped from precarious perches due to the bitter cold forming an icy mantle over the hotel. The thermometer registered eight degrees below zero at the height of the conflagration.

Only two of the dead were identified, they were:

WILLIAM SHANAHAN, a boarder at the hotel, Allentown.

MISS MARY NOVAK, a waitress. Thomas Harding, of Philadelphia, was driven from his room by the smoke and hung on the window ledge, with his body swinging in mid-air until his hands became so burned that he was forced to let go. He was saved from death or serious injury when his fall was blocked as he struck a body on a porch roof adjoining the hotel.

Woman Leaps to Death. A woman, her flimsy attire burning, was seen to leap from her fifth floor

J. W. HODGKINSON HURT IN CRASH

Auto Overturns on River Road Near Culvert.

Earl Hannah, freight agent, of Avondale street, who accompanied Hodgkinson, was slightly cut and bruised.

He was enroute to East End with Hannah when he is said to have lost control of the car, a Willys-Knight coach. The machine hurtled the high embankment of a dump pile and overturned on its side.

Hodgkinson was taken to the office of Dr. F. F. Davis, Mulberry street, by a passing motorist, and later removed to the hospital where an X-ray examination disclosed injuries to his shoulder and one rib.

The machine, which was badly damaged, was taken to a garage by the McGilvray wreckers.

An unidentified driver ditched his car at the Belok street crossing near the W. T. Anderson coal yards about 11 o'clock this morning but no one was injured.

314 STUDENTS AWARDED PLACES ON HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL FOR CITIZENSHIP AND SCHOLARSHIP

Names of 314 students, given recognition because of citizenship and scholarship, appear on the honor roll of the high school for the six-week period ending January 15. Miss Florence Updegraff, principal, announced today.

Group A classification contains 74 names. This group is comprised of those who earned grades of 90 or above in all four subjects. Seventy-one students were given places in the Group B class, representing those with grades of 80 or above in three subjects and the fourth not below 80. Group C, containing 167 names, is made up of students given four grades of 80 or above.

Citizenship is also required of all students on the honor roll. This includes regular and prompt attendance and good conduct everywhere about the building. The vote of the entire faculty confers good citizenship.

Here are the honor roll students:

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Frederick J. Haskin is the name of the man who answers more questions than any other person in the world.

He is employed by this paper to handle the inquiries of our readers and you are invited to call upon him as freely and as often as you please. Ask anything that is a matter of fact and the authority will be quoted you.

There is no charge for this service. Ask what you want, sign your full name and address, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address: The East Liverpool Review & Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is it true that there are no snakes in Ireland? F. F. S.

A. A snake that was discovered in Dublin is on exhibition at the National Museum of that city. It is a small specimen, less than 2 feet long and of a harmless variety.

Q. Who are the world's most popular authors? G. A. C.

A. According to a list prepared by Irving Harlow Hart for the Publishers' Weekly, the best sellers for the last twenty-four years were: Winston Churchill; Harold Bell Wright; Booth Tarkington; George Barr McCutcheon; Mary Roberts Rinehart; Zane Grey; Gene Stratton Porter; Eleanor H. Porter; William J. Locke; E. Phillips Oppenheim.

Q. Are flat omelets the same as fallen omelets? C. M.

A. Flat omelets are those made of the yolks and whites of eggs beaten together, not separately. For a fluffy omelet the yolks and whites are separated and beaten well. To the yolks, the milk and seasoning are added, lastly the fluffy whites are added and carefully blended. Fluffy omelets sometimes fall.

Q. How are vowels formed? M. R.

A. There are numerous theories concerning the formation of vowels. C. K. Rogers writing in "Your Voice and Your" says: "The theory most commonly accepted and most generally taught is that they are shaped in the mouth by various positions of the lips and tongue, which positions furnish so many forms or molds into which the stream of vibrated air is poured."

Q. Where is the most powerful lighthouse in the world? N. A. R.

A. The most powerful lighthouse in the world has been erected on Mont Afrique, on the plateau of Djibouti in France, for the purpose of guiding aircraft proceeding from and to Paris, Switzerland, Italy and Africa. The lamps consist of eight powerful electric arc lamps, with dioptric lenses, divided into two groups of four. The light from each four is converged into one beam, one beam facing one way and the other beam the other way, each beam having 1,000,000,000 candle power. The lantern measures eighteen feet across, and each lens is five feet in diameter. Lamps and lenses are mounted on two circular platforms, one above the other. The platforms are mounted on ball bearings on a circular pivot about which they are rotated by an electric motor. On a clear night the light of the beams is visible for 300 miles.

Q. What has been discovered in the survey of so-called "Californian Earth Movements"? W. T. D.

A. A comprehensive scheme of research is being carried out in California with the objective of investigating the alarming movements to which the earth's crust in that region is subject. The United States Coast Survey and the Hydrographic Office have triangulated the land and contoured the ocean floor, and the Geological Survey, aided by the universities of California, are studying the geology in detail. Great faults are found along the California coast, for the Sierra Nevada rises to more than 14,000 feet on the east, while the ocean floor drops sharply to a depth of 12,000 feet on the west. The danger zones of structural instability are being carefully mapped so that in future definite predictions of the places where earthquakes may occur may be made from a knowledge of the direction and magnitude of the creeping and tilting movements of the land.

Q. Are there more deaf mutes among men than among women? L. C.

A. A survey of 35,026 deaf mutes gives the following percentages: 13,166 males, 15,860 females; 18,317 of these were white males, 15,110 white females; 16,825 males were native born, and 13,980 females. Negroes, 786 males, 701 females. Chinese, Japanese, or other colored persons 63 males and 49 females.

FOSSIL DATES HUMAN LIFE BACK MILLIONS OF YEARS

Fish Scale Found in Vermont Forces
of Pre-Human Life.

New York.—A fossilized fish scale, scarcely larger than a match head, discovered at St. Albans, Vt., is forcing scientists to extend estimates of pre-human life backwards millions of years, the New York Times says.

"Howell's dawn fish" is the name that has been given this denizen of the Cambrian age, which it had heretofore been supposed was peopled only invertebrates and plants of low order. And, although there is no information on which to base a description

but this "fish plate" as it is called, scientists say it is highly important because it proves that chordata—or primitive vertebrate—existed in what had been considered a "backboneless age," 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 years ago at the dawn of life in its lowest forms.

Prof. B. F. Howell of the department of geology at Princeton university, the discoverer of the plate, said that it corresponded to the scale of the present species of fish. It was described as being part of the armor which probably defended the head and foretrunk of some hitherto unknown fish. It is said it may throw light on the origin of the fish as a genus.

The plate is now in the Princeton museum of paleontology. Professor Howell and Prof. Charles Schuchert of the department of geology at Yale found it last summer on the final day

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GUY BY EDGAR POE

FIFTY-FOUR.
On Friday morning, Laurel said to her husband, "I think I'll go out to the lodge in the morning, and you can come there directly from the office. Is there anything you would like to have me take along for you?"

Noble looked blankly across the breakfast table at her. "Uh—"

"Oh, Noble, you haven't forgotten, have you?" There was pain in her lovely eyes.

Then he suddenly remembered. "No, of course, not! Of course not! I was just trying to think if there was anything I would need."

There was uncertainty in her gaze, but her countenance brightened again. "And I am going to fix breakfast Sunday morning. You're so funny in your chef's cap and all that, but you must let me show you what a cook I am!"

"Oh, I know you are a good cook. I remember the morning your brought breakfast up to my room."

Laurel was pleased by his reference. "I'm practicing some new piano pieces to play to you Saturday evening, and Sunday afternoon we are going to take a long walk; or possibly you will row me a little on the lake?"

"Rowing on the lake at this time of the year? Really—"

She affected a pout, a gleam in her eye. "If you really loved me, you'd gladly—"

Noble guffawed. "You're always spoiling me, dear, and I'm dull to appreciate it."

Did this account for Noble's attitude toward some of the things she said? She wondered.

The car was laden with food and odds and ends when Henry drove her out to the lodge on Saturday morning. She was wearing a dress she didn't care about under her great coat, and when Henry had piled his load inside the log door, she went to work rearranging the place in accordance with ideas she had been forming for several days. The place where she had spent the first day of her married life with Noble Harwood was perfectly mirrored in her mind, and it was dearer to her than Harwood House itself. The latter she looked upon as Noble's alone, with herself only a fixture; but the cabin at the head of the rippling, crystal clear lake, was there—her honeymoon castle.

She was very tired, but enthralled, happy, at five o'clock in the afternoon, when she began to expect Noble to arrive. She had gone without lunch, and worked continuously in cleaning the rooms, putting the furniture in new places and getting dinner started. Then, worn and fatigued, she bathed, dressed in the fluffiest frock she had ever had, and sat down to wait expectantly for the sound of a purring motor and crackling wheels on the gravel road.

At last he came, and she pounced upon him in a great burst of happiness. He was all hers now. She did not have to share him with anyone here. How wonderful he was! How she loved his strong shoulders; his head, shaped like a marble she had seen in the Louvre; his stride, in which was all of his power. How lucky she was to be the wife of such a man. He was old enough to know the world's ways, to smooth out life's roughness for her. If only he loved her just a little—

"You're so wonderful, Laurel! Oh, so wonderful." Impulsively he picked her up and carried her to the lounge before the fire which was shadowing its flames upon the windows, and held her in his lap while he kissed her again and again.

Laurel's eyes were glowing. Noble's listless as they dimmed. She was so occupied in watching him eat the food she had prepared with such loving care, that she only nibbled at her own portion.

He got the food down with difficulty. The consommé was too highly seasoned, and it tasted as if it had come out of a can. He had such critcisms to make of all of the courses, but he did not betray his thoughts in his manner. He tried to make her think he liked it.

He was smoking by the fireplace, wearing the lounging robe and the soft slippers she had brought for him, and reading the afternoon paper, and Laurel was clearing up the last of the dishes when the bring-bring of a telephone startled the stillness of the lodge.

Giving her a comfortable pat upon the shoulder, he answered the call. From what he said, she guessed that Harry Yancey was calling, and anger, then fury, arose in her. She sat down limply on the lounge. She did not look up at him when he came back to her. "I thought NO ONE knew about this place," she said.

"Uh, Louis must have told him where I was," he responded, his face flushed.

She knew that he lied. Harry Yancey! She hated him more every day. It was he, not her, who had the biggest place in Noble Harwood's heart.

"Paula is out of the city, and he's alone, and I thought—"

She did not accept her cue. "Let's ask him to come out—just tonight. We can be alone tomorrow. He—"

"All right." Her reply was cold and toneless.

"I wonder if we couldn't ask someone else to come out, so we'll have a foursome for bridge, or billiards, or—"

"I don't know of anyone. Berenice always goes to choir practice on Saturday night."

"Oh, choir practice on Saturday night—so they won't forget how to sing before Sunday, eh?"

She ignored his attempt at a jest. "How about little Alice Kenwick?"

And I don't know whether she would come anyway."

"Well, let's call her."

If the phone had not been where he could hear every word, she probably would have managed to give him some other report than. "She will come. I told her I would call Harry and ask him to bring her out."

Boy Uses Dynamite in Game of 10 Pins

San Francisco.—For an hour one morning recently, eleven-year-old John Hickey played a game of 10 pins with 10 sticks of dynamite. The explosive was part of 50 sticks of dynamite stolen by small boys from a construction camp. Policeman Nels Miller, instructed to locate the stolen explosive, found young Hickey playing with the sticks in a lot, promptly halted the game and took the dynamite away from the boy. Other officers recovered more of the stolen dynamite.

She came back to the fireplace with a heavy heart.

"Noble, I thought we were going to— Oh, why is it that you never want to be alone with me any more?" (To be continued.)

In the next installment: Flight into the Night.

Don't neglect your kidneys!

ARE you miserable with an aching back? Get up lame and stiff; drag around tired, weak and depressed? Then help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of weakened kidneys. Neglect is dangerous. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Are endorsed here at home. Ask your neighbor!

Here's an East Liverpool case:

F. M. Glenn, painter, 1122 St. Clair Ave., says: "Kidney trouble must have been brought on by the use of paints and varnishes. A constant dull ache in my back tired me out. My kidneys acted irregularly. After using Doan's Pills, the backache left and my kidneys were in good condition."

Mother's Vow Results in Miniature Church

Cresco, Iowa.—The mother of John Gaertner, a French explorer, who was with Napoleon's forces at the burning of Moscow, vowed that if God would safely return her son she would build a church.

The son returned, but his mother, because of financial difficulties, was unable to carry out her plan. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Anna Huber, however, took up the work, and the result was the building in 1885 of St. Anthony's Catholic chapel. The church is of native limestone. It is 11 feet wide and 17 feet long. It has four stained-glass windows, a tall belfry, a cross, four pews, a center aisle, a main altar and two side altars. It seats eight persons. The tiny edifice, dedicated to the memory of John Gaertner, was maintained by the Huber family until 1924, when St. Anthony's Chapel association, formed by 65 grandchildren of Mary Anna Huber, took over its care.

Taxing Americans In Paris

The French government, driven to desperate remedies to raise money, proposes to tax foreign residents as it does French citizens. This policy, if approved by parliament, would impose the French income tax on many thousand Americans, in addition to the tax those Americans must pay at home.

It would be a serious thing to them. The French income tax rate is something to shudder at. It would make Americans pay $3,000 on a $10,000 income and $5,000 on a $15,000 income.

There is a way out, to be sure. The French evade heavy taxation by using their own judgment about the size of their tax returns. The average French man last year reported an income of only $25 above the exemption allowed. If the Americans followed the same course, they could still afford to live in France, live well there, because the low value of the franc makes cheap living.

Otherwise the rich or well-to-do would sell their estates or leave their hotels and pensions, and would come back home professing a new affection for their own country. The "American colony" in Paris would be decimated. Which, come to think of it, might not be a bad thing for either country.

All-American Intelligence

An American editor, wanting to keep in closer touch with Mexican affairs, decided to subscribe for a Mexican newspaper, but didn't know how to select one. So he wrote a letter addressed blindly to "The Leading Daily Newspaper, Mexico City, Mexico," trusting that somebody down there would be intelligent enough to deliver the letter and inspire a reply. Weeks passed. Nothing doing. Mexican inefficiency! That couldn't have happened up here.

Then the editor bethought himself of the American embassy at Mexico City, eager of course to promote interchange of intelligence between the two countries, and wrote there for information. early three weeks later he received a reply stating that the matter had been referred to the American consul general. No reply yet from that source. Well meaning, but inefficient, as we expect diplomatic machinery to be!

Meanwhile the persevering editor had a brighter idea. He wrote to the Pan-American Union at Washington. By return mail came a letter giving him the information he desired, with enclosures telling of available publications concerning every Latin-American country and every phase of Latin-American relations. The next day he received a bundle of representative publications. One hundred per cent efficiency!

The incident is passed along for its academic interest and also for its practical usefulness in furthering intercourse with the other Americas.

Making Virtue Prevail

"The men of ancient times," wrote Confucius, "who wished that virtue should prevail throughout the nation, first saw to the proper regulation of their own states. Planning the proper regulation of their own states, they first controlled their own families. Desiring to control their own families, they first attended to the purification of their own hearts. Aiming at the purification of their own hearts, they first sought to be sincere. Washing to be sincere, they enlarged their knowledge. Desiring to enlarge their knowledge, they examined into the nature of things."

These words certainly map out a man-size life work for any honest person, whether an ambitious statesman or merely a private citizen. They carry significant advice.

The fact that too few men of present times in China live up to these wise words of their greatest teacher—just as too few men in Occidental countries live up to the wisdom of their noblest leaders—does not lessen the value of the words. What wonders might be achieved in the reduction of the crime wave and the promotion of enlightened peace among nations if the average citizen set about needed reforms under such a regime!

Feminine Superiority

A Chicago woman's excellence has brought her to the divorce court.

When she beat her husband persistently in golf games, and then sweetly ventured to give him advice about his playing, it was too much, and he struck her. When she checkmated his king at chess, he upset the board, swore and gave her a black eye. Then she gave up and asked for a divorce. She liked her husband, in spite of his failures and faults, but she couldn't stand his reaction to her superiority.

Sure, the man was a brute. But the woman in this case seems to have lacked tact. It is well known that women in general are superior to men, but it has often been agreed among philosophers that their highest merit is to conceal their superiority and indulge men in the delusion that they're the lords of creation.

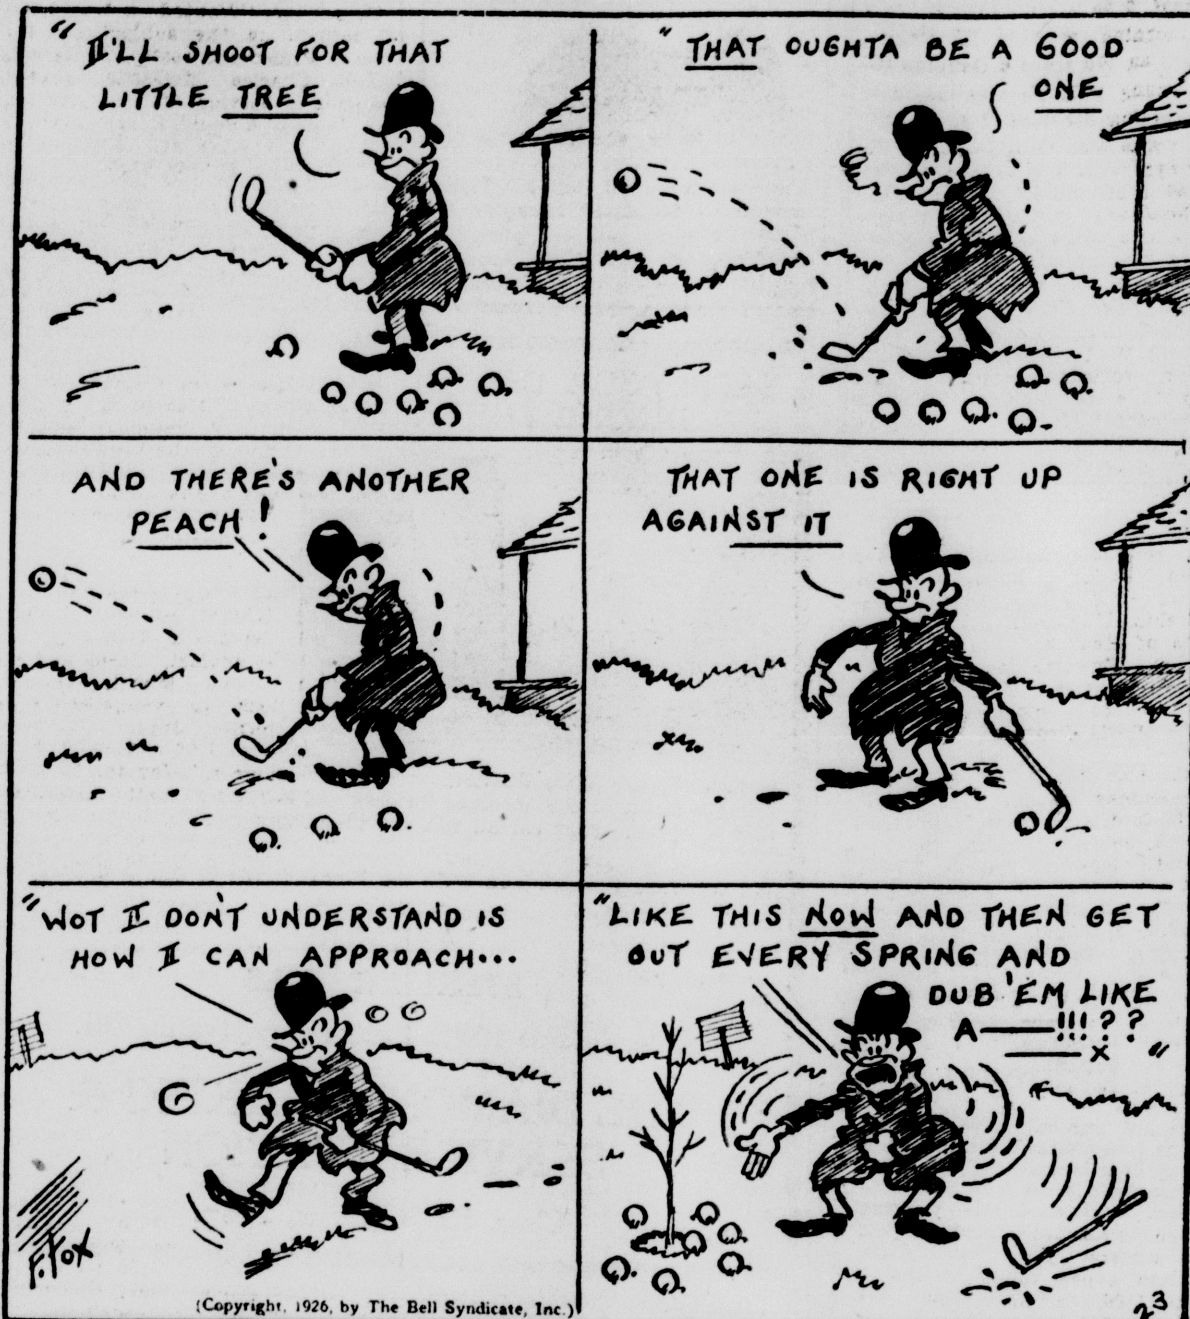

If this woman had been just a little bigger, maybe she would have lost to her husband deliberately, satisfied with the knowledge that she could beat him if she wanted to.

Why worry because the flapper carries a vanity case full of powder, rouge and lipstick? Be thankful that she has graduated from the smelling salts stage.

Less wild game in this country now, but plenty of wild games.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. — From the windows of the elevated trains cutting a yellow serpentine way through the crowded East Side one may see the jostling tangle of life among New York's poor. In the early morning through uncurtained windows are revealed sleeping cots of humanity—sometimes five and six to a room.

In almost every window is a straggly geranium pot. Little whorls of smoke curl from chimney tops. The East Side fires are of picked-up kindling. Fire escapes are dotted with lean cats foraging for morning milk bottles and leftover scraps.

The air seems musky with sleep. There is little insomnia in the slums. They are ailed early if the have jobs up early. Children splash their faces to a certain white above grimy necks and rush off to school with a shout of joy.

Some of the youngsters are "sewed in" for the winter. Their clothes are not removed from late fall to early spring. Yet they are red-cheeked and bright-eyed in their filth and about the sturdiest physical specimens to be found in the city.

Along the curbs the shivering old men with hempen beards and shawled women set up their pickle, fried fruit and hot bread stands and uncover their tubs of gherkins. Pickles are often a breakfast commodity on the East Side. Digestion is rarely a problem.

The young girls who rush forth to the factory lofts are given to blue serge suits and their faces are powdered a ghastly white. Yet each carries a dangle, vanity case. Quick lunch rooms splutter their windows with breakfast fare in frosted white and have a clattering gusto.

Stores open early to catch morning trade. Values are stressed. Fire sales are heralded year in and out. Bankrupt stocks. "Must Vacate at once" and "Building Coming Down" are on all sides. Movies are open at 9 a. m. to comfort those without jobs.

New York women are said to be the best shod in the land. One never sees run-over heels even in the areas of squalor. Men are not so fastidious.

On the other hand—pardon the frayed cuffs—most New Yorkers of masculine persuasion are extremely meticulous about their gloves. A soiled or wrinkled glove is as unusual as a lady's run-over shoe.

It seems to me far greater courage is required to wear snow white gloves than a monocle. And to wear a silk hat with them as they do at the opera is simply the last doggone word in sartorial bravery.

There is a hard boiled prize fighter with undershot jaw and beard that has to be removed with a blow torch, two elegantly caulked ears and nose with concave indentation who clings to spats along with his sweater and cap. He hangs around West Forty Seventh street and it is noticeable no one twits him about his conceit.

Quick success is a part of Manhattan's mad phantasmagoria. Among the night fighters at a recent brilliant opening were a former delicatessen keeper, a queenly lady who once conducted a theatrical boarding house, an ex-newspaper reporter with a successful play, an ex-milkman and a realtor who arrived five years ago in the steerage.

A restaurant in the Fifties has a sign on its entrance reading: "We desire a clientele of fastidious people who like good food well cooked and who prefer a studied quiet to jazz noise. We serve no intoxicants and forbid its use on the premises." It is nearly always empty.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Modern And Ancient Piracy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—The capture of a British coasting ship plying between Shanghai and Tientsin, by Chinese freebooters, constitutes the most brazen bit of piracy in the Yellow Sea, if not in the world, in years. That in modern times, when international law binds supposedly powerful thongs about the world and chains international lawlessness on both land and sea, such a thing could occur is seemingly impossible, and yet it was accomplished, and fearfully easily.

About two score of Chinese boarded as passengers the English ship, which carried freight up and down the coast. When a short distance out of port they took possession of the vessel. A slight skirmish took place in which the captain was shot in the thigh. The other officers were imprisoned. After that the pirates forced the crew to sail down the coast 1,000 miles or so to a haunt near the city of Hankow. There the loot was taken ashore in small boats and the ship turned over to its officers. The place near Hankow is said to be an honest-to-goodness pirate's den.

The method employed by these pirates—that of boarding the ship under the guise of passengers and then proceeding to business—seems to be the accepted fashion for the really up-to-date pirates of the twentieth century. It is not very dangerous, and usually brings excellent results, as the crew is taken by surprise and is not capable of offering much resistance. Likewise it is a very effective method for the less adventurous bandit—as shown in the recent robbery in Mexico in which men, women and children were slaughtered like so many cattle—who also finds that his skin is much safer than if he gave his victim a fair chance.

But what would Captain Kidd, Captain Avery, Bartholomew Roberts or Drake have thought of such antics? Or what would Robin Hood, or the Black Douglas, or Wallace, or Jesse James have done if they had set out to do some daring deed of freebootery? If their commentators are to be believed they fought, raided, pillaged, not for the sake of spoil alone, but for an equal love of the adventure of it and they took as they gave, with rare sportsmanship. The science of piracy and banditry has degenerated to mere sneak-thievery.

The Famous Red Beard

Of the two, the famous "Red Beard" was the more notorious. The fleets of England, Holland, Spain and the Italian nations were sent against him, but he laughed at them and shipped through their fingers. He captured the rich Papal galleys as a defiance to the Christian world, and he chained Christians to his oars as the most miserable of beings—galley slaves.

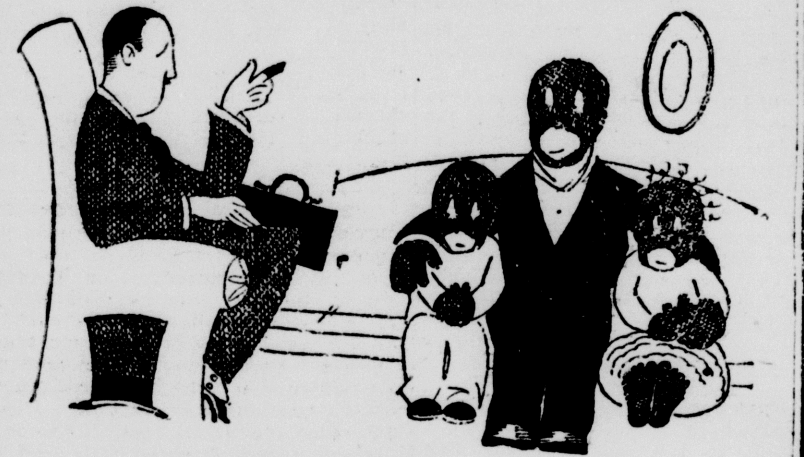

The Mediterranean highway was unsafe because of him. He was the phantom of the ship lanes and he struck cruelly and swiftly. Finally he changed his base of operations to the Isle of Jerba, off the coast of Tunis, where his fortunes began to turn. After many battles he fell before the onslaughts of Charles V. of Spain near Tremizan, in Africa. He had escaped, but when he learned that his loyal men were hard put, he returned to die with them.

During the colonial period of America the pirates of the Spanish Main roamed the seas, pillaging, exacting tribute, and spreading terror amongst the nations. To combat them the French and English fought fire with fire and sent equally bold seafarers against them. Sir Francis Drake was one of these romantic gentlemen and his exploits have made history.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find it in the things folks do. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

184. Who was the first person that ever went to Heaven?
Answer: See John 3:13.
185. Is not David, the sweet singer of Israel, in Heaven?
Answer: See Acts 2:34.
186. Did God Promise to take Abraham, His friend, to Heaven?
Answer: See Genesis 13: 14-16.
187. Did Abraham ever get that land?
Answer: See Acts 7:5.
188. Can Jehovah break His word, or will He Resurrect Abraham and give him that promised land?
Answer: See Hebrews 6:18.
189. Did the Patriarch Job expect to be raised from the dead and live on the earth again?
Answer: See Job 14:13-15.
190. Did any of the Patriarchs receive the promised blessings before they died?
Answer: See Hebrews 11:13.

MRS. HERWIG,

Local Resident Succumbs in Wheeling Hospital.

Mrs. Anne Morrow Herwig, 53 years old, practically a lifelong resident of Wellsville, died last night at 7:40 o'clock at the Ohio Valley hospital, in Wheeling, following an illness contracted last December.

For two years Mrs. Herwig has lived at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. M. Edmundson, Wheeling.

The body was brought today to the D. N. MacLean chapel, in Riverside avenue, where it may be viewed to-night. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the chapel, in charge of Rev. W. S. Rowe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Interment will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

She is survived by a son, Ed Herwig of Albany, N. Y.; a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Pittenger, of Cleveland; a brother, R. M. Morrow, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the following sisters: Mrs. Alice Cheate, Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. L. M. Edmundson, Wheeling; Mrs. Harry Dean, New Orleans, La.; Mrs. James Reed Baker, Chicago, and Mrs. Elsie Morrow, in Wheeling.

Woman Bitten by Dog
Mrs. Rose Watkins, of Ironton, is reported to be recovering from the effects of injuries she sustained several days ago when she was bitten by a dog on her way home from a church meeting. The dog later was killed and its head sent to Columbus for examination. The animal was thought to have been suffering from rabies.

HIGH PASSERS
LOSE TWO GAMES

Boys Drop 33-18 Decision; Girls Defeated, 63-7.

Wellsville high school passers dropped a double bill to Steubenville teams last night on the Steubenville court, the local boys' squad losing a 33 to 18 decision and the girls being overwhelmed by a count of 63 to 7.

Wellsville's scoring was confined chiefly to Forward Dickey and Guard Scholl while the Steubenville lads distributed their points pretty well among the entire outfit, and, although none of the Jefferson county combine was able to equal Dickey in the matter of field goals and only one surpassed him in total points, it was the ability of practically any and all members of the team to drop in a few points here and there along the route that enabled them to top the locals.

Ellis and Porter each counted three times from the wide open spaces while Richards and Maley made it two apiece. The home outfit registered 12 field goals to Wellsville's seven and nine fouls to four.

Besides playing a good game at guard, Scholl came up the floor two drop in a couple of field goals and boosted his average with a pair of fouls.

The preliminary was a walkaway for the Steubenville girls who counted field goal after field goal until 63 points had been chalked up. Eighteen Steubenville girls took part in the game.

Train of Scout Has Been Blazed in Home, School
and Church.

The Boy Scout movement has passed the experimental stage. There may be modifications of it in the future looking to even greater efficiency, but its worth has been proven so effectively that none needs to question its being a national asset.

The scout has written his trail in the open places of nature. Boys have by means of scouting learned to know nature and to love it. The exercise of body, mind and soul has been in the great out-of-doors as much as possible. Healthful conditions are thus supplied for the proposed exercise in all the three fundamental lines.

But the trail of the scout has also been blazed in the home. The boy who is taught the necessity of obedience in connection with the things he personally wanted to do cannot help taking that lesson into his home life. He will more readily obey his parents than before.

Important also is the cleanliness of mind which the scout learns in his regular course. The test of promiscuous contact with boys who know too much in the wrong way will not be met among his fellow scouts. Clean, right thinking is constantly held before the scout as a standard to be maintained. If by chance the opposite for a moment shows its face the frown of another scout soon puts it to flight and forbids its reappearance.

Scout in the School.

The Boy Scout movement does not aim to assume the responsibility of either home or school for the boy, but to supplement and intensify the training of both, in character formation. The relation of the scout movement to the school is one of the closest co-operation and mutual helpfulness. One high school principal has described scouting by saying: "It has done what no scheme has ever done before—made the boy want to learn."

As we have shown in the previous article, the scout movement is absolutely non-sectarian both in principle and in practice. But its program provides recreational activities which are easily adapted as activities of his own church. He does not get the desire to graduate an adjunct to the work of the church and the Sunday school. The movement serves an important need in keeping the boy in contact with the religious so evident in growing boys.

Scouting does not specifically teach religion, but it does both directly and indirectly inculcate those ideals which will help boys to put in practice every day the religious faith which may be theirs.

When a boy's mind is occupied with the Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

They can recognize it in his est thing for parents and teachers to countenance, in his growing reticence and unresponsiveness. But it is beyond reach. He will not talk of it. ## NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

On View Here!

"Enclosed Car" Motor

Introduced at New York Show

Our showrooms are now devoted to a Special Nash Exhibit that practically duplicates the great New York Show display.

It creates an absolutely new standard of enclosed car performance that will prove a revelation to you—for it is surpassingly superior in every phase of operation.

Here you may view personally the important new Nash developments—particularly the great new Nash "Enclosed Car" Motor.

There's a full 25% greater volume of symmetrically smooth power—power without a single "rough spot" thruout the entire range.

In creating this new motor Nash deliberately disregarded general precedent which was accustomed to shape the capabilities of a motor to open car requirements.

And the speed with which you accelerate is lightning-like—23% faster than formerly in going from any given rate to a higher rate.

On the contrary, Nash especially engineered this motor to provide the finest calibre of performance for the enclosed car.

Yet your travel-cost per gallon of fuel is held down to the old low level.

In utter smoothness, in quietness and in phenomenal acceleration, this new "Enclosed Car" Motor clearly outdistances all that has gone before.

And so expertly is the motor designed and constructed that under average driving conditions you may drive it to a mileage high in the five-figure class without further thought except to change oil at the usual periods.

hot ploughshares. Her friend, the good bishop, had the metal painted bright red, instead of heating it, and the lady walked barefoot through the ordeal in triumph.

Because Mr. Burbank is a "scientist," wise, good people are disturbed that he should "see no proof whatever of the soul's immortality, nothing to indicate that when we die we go anywhere except into the ground."

In this case the deepest scientist may be overruled by the simplest man. This universe, our little corner of it at least, would be a preposterous, brutal joke of this short life were to end everything.

A cricket by the railroad track sees no reason to believe that passing express trains will ever reach Chicago. He may even doubt the existence of any Chicago. That cricket's opinion means as much as that of the highest scientist concerning immortality.

If your faith has been shaken by the estimable agricultural scientist, Burbank, you may find comfort in the words of a scientist infinitely greater, Charles Darwin.

He said: "Believing as I do that man in the distant future will be a far more perfect creature than he now is, it is an intolerable thought that he and all other sentient beings are doomed to complete annihilation after such long continued slow progress. To those who fully admit the immortality of the human soul the destruction of our world will not appear so dreadful."

Durkin Loses 'Hero Pose'

Seeks Defense Fund.

Because of this, Durkin, ordinary auto thief and confessed police killer, is not stepping along a path of roses today toward the scene he pictured of an admiring courtroom filled with women listening to an impassioned plea from a famous attorney. Instead, he waits alone in a cell, ignored by his fellow prisoners while his family tries to raise a defense fund so that he may have eminent counsel when he faces arraignment on January 29 of charge of having shot to death Police Harry Gray.

For Durkin, who has scattered ill-gotten gains along a hectic path of susceptible girls, illicit liquor and stolen automobiles, is "brake" today, depending as he has in the past of his troubles on the loyalty of his mother and his sisters to get him out, find the money for his defense and save him from the rope.

Indications are that the confessed killer will go to trial first on the charge of killing Gray, who was slain when a police trap set for Durkin failed. Arraignment on the charge of killing Special Government Agent Edward J. Shanahan, for which the federal government sought Durkin the length and breadth of the land, has been set for February 8.

Another Rent in 'Romantic Character'

CHICAGO, Kan., Jan. 23.—Martin J. Durkin, confessed killer, "safety-first" auto thief, and suave wrecker of the lives of many susceptible women, saw another rent torn in the robe of his "romantic character" today.

The light through the "big-hearted boy" camouflage was shed by the first girl he married—June Stokes, happy now as the wife of a well-to-do business man and the mother of a baby girl.

June, who was 17 years old when the subsequent saleroom auto stealer first flashed his fickle smile on her, made a strong case against the man who can see a rope dangling from his cell window today. It was not an attack. It was an unconscious case, standing bare and ugly in a few statements of facts.

She first met Durkin at a skating rink. She was impressed with his suave manner and "a certain way" he had.

Then she goes on: "We were married in the city hall by Judge Lynch in September 1919. I don't know whether Marty was working or not. I don't believe he was. Then—"I paid the rent."

help us in this work of mercy and love."

Sheriff Returns From Lima.

Police, in their reply to Rev. Mr. Cullinan, referred him to Rev. Carl W. Christy, who heads the organization and who is now in Akron where he was called by the death of his father. The younger Mr. Christy visited with his father over Christmas, leaving here for St. Louis on Saturday, January 9, a few days before the minister's death.

Sheriff George Wright, who took Mrs. Christy, self-confessed poisoner of her husband to the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Lima, where she will be placed under observation, was back in Lisbon today. Mrs. Christy, who rode to Lima in the back seat of the sedan automobile, driven by Mr. Wright, talked little during the nine-hour trip, but went just before she reached her destination. The officers made no attempt to question her during the journey.

The sheriff, who was accompanied by D. K. Leyda, Wellsville railroad detective, spent the night in Columbus and on Friday delivered William Clutter to the Lancaster Industrial school.

First M. P. Church Revival Campaign Closes On Sunday

Rev. W. A. Knapp Will Preach in Morning, Afternoon and Eve- ning.

The three-week evangelistic campaign being conducted in the First Methodist Protestant church will close with the Sunday night sermon by Rev. W. A. Knapp, Westerville evangelist. "The American Home" will be the topic at the Sunday afternoon service.

Services will also be held Sunday morning. Special music will be rendered by the choir and Prof. R. E. Kauffman, Dayton evangelistic singer, throughout Sunday. The choir, on Sunday night, will sing "Hallelujah Chorus."

During the song service last night Prof. Kauffman sang, "The Cleansing Blood," one of his own compositions. "The Singer and the Song" was rendered by Miss Lydia Bennett, soloist, Misses Lillian Brookes and Freda McConnell and Messrs. James Hall and John Brookes.

"The Gospel That Saves" was the subject on which Rev. Mr. Knapp spoke last night. He said, in part:

"There was never a time in the history of the race when we've had as many different 'gospels' preached to us as we have today. Many are confused, not knowing which is right, which to believe. But there is one true gospel, the gospel of Christ. I'd rather be a pessimistic truth teller than an optimistic liar. Some preach the gospel of sunshine, reformation, education, Russellism, Christian science, New Thought and others.

"It isn't New Thought, reformation nor education men need. It's salvation. These gospels do not touch our primary needs. You must realize that men are lost now, not only at the judgment. The moment God steps over the line and transgresses the law of God, He is a sinner. It may not be a very bad sin, but the transgressor is guilty before God. There is no difference between the man who commits a small sin and one who commits a large one. Both have sinned. One man steals a loaf of bread because he is hungry and another robs a bank of $50,000. Who is the thief? Both are thieves, because both have sinned."

AMZI BERRY DIES IN AKRON

Confectioner Succumbs to Pneumonia After Week's Illness.

George Amzi Berry, confectioner and fruit dealer here for more than 25 years, died in his home, 985 Arlington street, Akron, at 5:30 o'clock this morning following a week's illness of pneumonia. He visited local relatives just a week ago today.

Berry has been living in Akron for about six years. He conducted a fruit stand and confectionery store in Sixth street for many years and later was in business in Dresden avenue. He is survived by his wife and one son, Louis, at home. Two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Weaver, of this city, and Mrs. Nettie Mehril, of Wellsville, and two brothers, Sheridan Berry, of this city, and Charles Berry, of Follansbee, also survive. Mr. Berry was a member of East Liverpool lodge No. 258, B. P. O. Elks.

While funeral arrangements have not been completed, burial probably will be made in Akron Monday.

M. D. Crackel Will Speak at Sunday Afternoon Meeting

M. D. Crackel, of Cleveland, will address members of the Sunday Afternoon club tomorrow at 3:45 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. on the subject, "Play the Game."

Having been connected with young movement for 28 years he is an authority on problems which confront the young man. He has spent most of his life in Cleveland and at present is executive secretary of the West Side Y. M. C. A. there.

The Sunday Afternoon club is an organization which promotes Sunday afternoon meetings of interest to young men between the ages of 16 to 26. The club is officered by a president, secretary and five committees of seven members each.

C. of C. Board Meeting

New Directors Qualify.

Upon the request of C. C. Cline, president of the Kiwanis club, the board discussed the advisability of conducting a community chest campaign here for relief and welfare activities. A committee, consisting of T. E. Lewis, John W. Moore and D. M. Ogilvie, was named to confer with representative of churches, service clubs, lodges and similar bodies to ascertain the sentiment.

New members of the board, including Joseph Betz, C. V. Beatty, Charles Henderson, J. M. Manor, T. V. Milligan, Frank Swaney and W. H. Vordrey, were sworn into office for terms of three years.

The board went on record as favoring the erection of street signs throughout the city, and a committee consisting of J. S. Hilbert, C. W. Henderson and T. V. Milligan was named to carry out the plan.

Tree Committee's Report.

A report of the tree committee regarding the needs of the city so far as trees are concerned was also filed with the board. This report consisted of a 26-page survey and 60 or more photographs, bound in book form. It was compiled with the assistance of Edmund Secrest, Wooster, state forester, and J. S. Houser, also of Wooster, entomologist, his assistant, following a visit to this city last fall.

The committee was made up of Wilson Smith, John Keil, J. T. Croxall, L. C. Cooper and Ralph Conch. It is the only time that such a survey was made in East Liverpool. Shade trees in Thompson Park, West Fifth street park and also along residential sections of the city were studied and discussed in the report.

Several thousand city maps were ordered printed. City Engineer John A. George will co-operate with the board in the preparing of these maps.

A committee consisting of Patrick McNeil, C. C. Ashbaugh, W. H. Vordrey, R. G. Thompson, J. R. Croxall and J. S. Hilbert was named to confer with city council at the next meeting to urge the Academy street improvement this summer. A petition representing more than the necessary 51 per cent of the property holders, has been prepared and will be submitted to council.

The board voted "yes" on ballot No. 47, relating to resale prices, submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

COLD WAVE HITS TELEPHONE LINES

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23.—While the promised cold weather failed to reach the point predicted by the weather bureau, the cold snapped many wires of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, greatly hampering communication, company officials said today.

A total of 95 long distance circuits were out of commission today. Of these 23 were in the eastern division; 52 in the southern division, 20 in the western and two in the northern.

Over average temperatures in the various telephone divisions were from 20 to 15 above, the company said. The lowest temperatures reported in the southern part of the state.

Contractors Begin Work Monday on West Eight Street

Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin, road building contractors, will begin work Monday on the West Eighth street contract awarded them last fall. County Surveyor Lloyd Kirk has been informed.

The contractors will start making a fill on the south side of the road. Excavating on the north side of the highway, between Shady-side avenue and the city limits, will begin as soon as the weather permits. Practically all private right-of-way, which was purchased for the improvement, has been vacated.

The road to Wellsville will not be closed during the improvement but automobile owners will travel it at their own risk. The contractors hope to complete the job early in the summer.

room, despite warning shouts from horror-stricken spectators below. She landed on the icy pavement and was instantly killed.

The fire was discovered by a clerk. He attempted to arouse the guests. The elevator shaft was on fire and the staircase was also burning. He resorted to the telephone, ringing each guest's room. The panic-stricken guests tried to rush into the corridors but were driven back. The corridors were a mass of flames.

The fourth and fifth floors suffered heaviest. The flames spread to the lower floors but the arrival of firemen enabled their occupants to reach safety.

Escape Is Cut Off.

By the time the firemen arrived the inside of the hotel was a mass of flames and escape by the stairway and elevator were cut off. Frightened and bewildered guests stood at their windows, waiting to be rescued. Spectators standing on the sidewalks below could see the occupants of the burning building and hear their cries, but were unable to offer help.

Firemen ran up ladders and started carrying down those of the guests who had not jumped or slid from their windows by improvised ropes. Automobiles and taxicabs were commandeered to take the injured to hospitals.

List of Missing.

The hotel, one of the oldest in Allentown, was built in 1900 and was valued at $175,000.

Firemen were waiting for the ruins to cool so that they could search them for bodies of the reported missing. Some are believed to have been trapped on the fifth floor when the roof of the building collapsed.

Among the missing are: William Frederick, Hazelton, Pa. A. Jackson, Hazelton, Pa. W. Grosky, Trenton, N. J. C. A. Bechtold, Belleville, N. J. G. K. Kelsner, Binghamton, N. Y. Geo. V. Forry, Philadelphia. R. J. Charles, Philadelphia. Anton Turassau, Allentown.

Thronged gathered in the streets before the hospital and knelt in prayer, tears streaming down their cheeks.

Mourning World Over.

The death of the cardinal has been anticipated for more than a fortnight, but he has displayed remarkable constitutional vigor and long after his physicians gave up all hope he fought valiantly for life and it was his one last wish that he might recover sufficiently to be taken back to his beloved Malines, there to die where he had lived and worked, among the people of his archdiocese.

Cardinal Mercier will be mourned the world over for he was more than a cardinal of the church, more than a Belgian hero, more than a great scholar—he was an international figure, a man who defied the grey hordes of Germany when they were sweeping over Europe and spreading world consternation. This frail and aged prelate stood staunch defiance of the German emperor's army, he refused to obey their orders and he continued to work for the relief of the people of Belgium and the German army officials dared not touch him, lest they bring even greater world head down upon their heads.

Once the war passed into history Cardinal Mercier as a world figure was an advocate of all peace measures, and if he retained in his heart the slightest hate for his late enemies he did not let it show.

Worked for Church Union.

The funeral arrangements have not been made but it is expected that after brief ceremonies in Brussels the body will be taken to Malines, seat of his archbishopric, and there the body will lie in state in the Cathedral of Malines.

Even in his dying day the cardinal worked for an end which has always been his great ambition—the union of the Catholic church and the Church of England. During the past week he held conferences at his bedside with leaders of the Church of England, discussing the often-discussed problem of bringing these two ecclesiastical faiths together.

The energy which he spent in these conferences undoubtedly hastened his death.

For several years Cardinal Mercier had carried on conversations relative to union of the two churches, and in these conversations he was given absolute authority by the Pope to negotiate as he saw fit.

Born at Braine.

Cardinal Mercier was born at Braine, Belgium. His father died while he was yet a child, leaving his mother with seven children in straitened circumstances.

While yet a child the young Desire Mercier felt that his career lay in the church, and he was admitted to the seminary of Malines at an early age later attending the University of Louvain.

At Louvain the Cardinal spent 33 years of his life, first as a student, later as a professor, and finally as dean of the Institute of Philosophy of this university. He was distinguished as a philosopher long before he became a popular hero during the war. His works upon philosophy are still standard text books.

In 1905, the Pope named him Archbishop of Malines and primate of Belgium. In the following year he was elevated to the cardinalate.

Resisted German Invaders.

When Germany invaded Belgium it was Cardinal Mercier who led the moral resistance against the invaders. He defied the Germans on every hand, when they sought to limit his exercise of spiritual authority. He disregarded their "invitation" to him to remain within the precinct of the archiepiscopal palace. At Christmas, 1914, over the protest of the military governor of the German army in Belgium, he issued a Christmas pastoral to the suffering Belgians, entitled "Patriotism and Endurance."

The military governor, General von Bissing, immediately forbade the reading of the pastoral and ordered the cardinal to appear before him. The cardinal refused and he was arrested and held in prison for three days, but was released when it was found that imprisonment failed to make him amenable to German commands.

When Herbert Hoover was directing Belgian relief, Cardinal Mercier was one of his earnest co-operators.

During the Versailles peace conference it was suggested that he be invited to attend as a delegate, and President Wilson made a special trip to Malines to pay his respects to the prelate.

In 1919 Cardinal Mercier came to the United States to personally thank the American people for their aid to suffering Belgians. He was given honorary degrees of Harvard and other universities.

During his dying days it was one of his greatest joys to know that the sacked library of Louvain, wantonly burned by the Germans, was being reconstructed, largely through American aid.

The Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

HIGH DOWNED BY FOLLANSBEE

Brooke County Passers Capture Hard Fought Game, Score 21-20.

Follansbee high school basketball five defeated Chester high last night on the Rock Springs park floor in a close and exciting game by a score of 21 to 20.

The contest was one of the hardest fought battles of the season and was in doubt until the whistle sounded the end of time. The game was witnessed by a good crowd including a delegation that accompanied the Brooke county tossers.

Hagberg started the scoring for Follansbee by tossing a foul. Brady and Hagberg shot field goals in rapid succession before Campbell broke the ice for Chester by scoring twice from the foul line. Care scored a double decker for the visitors and Miller came back for Chester with a field goal from the center of the floor. Miller scored on a foul and the first quarter closed with Chester leading by a score of 8 to 7.

Follansbee tied up the score at the opening of the second period when Brady tossed a foul. Benke went in for Cecone at forward but played only a few minutes before being replaced by Rogers. Hagberg put Follansbee in the lead with a field goal. Rogers scored another double decker and Miller kept Chester in the running with a side shot for two points. Care counted from the foul line for the visitors and the period ended with Follansbee in the lead, score 13 to 10.

Cecone took Rogers place at forward at the start of the second half. Campbell started the scoring with a free toss. Tuttle scored twice more from the free line and tied up the score. Rogers replaced Cecone at forward and broke the deadlock with a long shot from the side. Campbell came right back and evened the count with a field goal from mid-floor. Rogers scored a field goal and sent Follansbee into the lead as the period ended, score 17 to 15.

Cecone took Hagberg's place at forward while the latter took Brady's position at center when the teams lined up for the final quarter. Cecone scored from the field and Campbell tossed in one from the foul line. Rogers scored from the field on a running shot and Campbell came through with another cutting the lead of the visitors to one point. The crowd started to root hard for a Chester victory at this stage with only a few minutes to play but the visitors held their slight margin to the finish.

Miller, Campbell and Tuttle were the high scorers for Chester, while Hagberg, Care and Rogers were the leading scorers for Follansbee.

The preliminary game between the Faculty and Chester high seconds resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 35 to 34. Wild and Rabenstein were the scoring stars for the winners, while Johnston and Ewing took honors for the losers.

Realistic Railroad Crash in Picture At the American

If you can imagine a 12-wheel-drive locomotive crashing into and overturning a Pullman car, you have an idea of the kind of railroad smash that occurs in Cecil B. DeMille's personally directed production, "The Road To Yesterday," opening at the American theatre Monday for a three-day run.

Believing in doing things right, DeMille had built for his purposes in this Producers Distributing Corporation release a duplicate of the K-4 passenger engine, over 80 feet in length.

As setbacks were practically impossible in this scene, the famous director took every precaution to make a successful photographic reproduction of this spectacular catastrophe.

The screen version of this story was made by Jeanie Macpherson, one of the highest paid scenarists in the film industry, in collaboration with Benah Marie Dix, from an old stage success of twenty years ago. It is the initial DeMille personally directed production since this screen genius joined the ranks of the independent producers.

NAME REGISTRARS FOR BALLOTING

City Clerk R. Lester McMath today announced the following list of registrars for the municipal election to be held on Thursday, March 11:

First ward—Mrs. C. E. Adams and Miss Alma Cunningham.

Third ward—Edward T. Garner and Mrs. Pearl McCoy.

Fourth ward—Lester Wehner and James Paisley.

Fifth ward—Byron T. Skinner and A. Harold Mackell.

They will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the municipal building where they will receive instructions and books for the purpose of enrolling the voters in their respective wards. They will sit prior to election for two days when an opportunity will be given citizens who have been missed or out of the city during their canvass to enroll.

REPORT INCREASE IN FIRE LOSS

For the first half of the fiscal year ending December 31, the fire loss in Hancock county from eight fires was $99,365, an increase of $92,365 or 319 per cent over the corresponding period the year before.

The county fire loss in December was $23,000 as against a no loss record for the same month in 1924. It is shown by a report of the state fire marshal.

There were two fires reported and the loss was entire in each with $6,900 insurance on the property. Two frame dwellings were attacked in fires of unknown origin.

MAN'S BODY FOUND IN SNOW DRIFT

The frozen body of William Wilcox, 50 years old, of Atlasburg, near Burgettstown, was found covered with snow in the middle of a roadway yesterday morning. The body was discovered by a Negro laborer, who stumbled over it on his way to work. Police express the opinion that Wilcox, who was employed by the American Zinc and Chemical company, was returning home from work when he was suddenly taken ill and fell in the road. A blizzard covered the body.

SCHOOL MERGER VOTE PLANNED

Electors of Franklin Township Will Pass
on Proposal.

Centralization of education in Franklin township will be submitted to the electors of that township at the November election. This was determined at a joint meeting of the Franklin township board of education and also of the board representing the Summitville special school district.

Elimination of several teachers, and the offering of a two year high school course will result should the proposition of centralization be approved. It has been proposed to have a centralized school in Franklin township similar to that in Fairfield, and which has proved, according to state school records, to be one of the most active in any of the 88 counties in the state.

There are five schools in Franklin township within the next two years, the idea of centralized school facilities is growing. Many residents of Franklin township have become interested in the centralized school movement, but a school cannot be established without a vote of the electors.

DATE FIXED FOR DAMAGE CLAIMS

The county commissioners in determining to improve that section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, or inter-county highway No. 602 from the Y. & O. sub station to the intersection of the Lincoln highway at Apples' Corners, has set Feb. 8th at 12 o'clock central standard time to receive damage claims.

It is proposed to grade and surface 3.52 miles of this road during the coming spring and summer, and both the city and state is prepared to award contracts.

The official notice that has been issued by the commissioners concerning this hearing declares that unless claims for damages are filed by the time the hearing opens, such action will be considered as a waiver of all future demands that may be made by property owners in connection with the improvement of this section of road.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR COLL COMPANY

S. B. McClure has been appointed receiver for the Coll Preserving Co. of East Palestine, by Judge E. R. Eastman, following the filing of a petition in common pleas court by Attorney L. M. Kyes against the company wherein judgment is asked on a one-day judgment note for $100.

The petition relates that the company is not able to meet its obligations and "that a receiver should be appointed to take charge of and preserve the assets of the defendant."

Judge Eastman set the bond of the receiver at $5,000, and Mr. Kyes was appointed attorney for the receiver by the court.

FRANKLIN FARM BUREAU MEETS

An all-day meeting of the Franklin Township Farm Bureau opened at Millport at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning and the afternoon session began at 1:30 o'clock. Dinner was served at noon. The speakers during the day were County Agent Floyd Lower; County Service Manager Phil E. Heim, J. C. Pottorf of Salem and Dallas F. Hahn, purchasing agent of Homeworth. The activities of the Franklin township bureau for the year were discussed, and the program proposed by the county farm bureau was also talked over.

CONGRESSMEN GET STRANGE REQUESTS

Appeals Often Test the Wit of Legislator.

Washington.—Your congressman's mail, which attains considerable volume during the session, is an odd assortment of letters, containing everything, from facts to fiction, from truth to trouble, from nuggets of suggestion to "nut" requests. If the legislator has a sense of humor he may come to enjoy the latter; the difficulty lies in knowing whether the writer really meant to be funny. Here is a letter that came to a certain legislator:

"I urge that a commission be appointed to go to Germany and lay the matter before the authorities there, pointing out that the surrender of Bergdoll by the Germans would aid very materially in smoothing out the feeling engendered by the late war. Upon Germany's surrender of Bergdoll to the United States, I would have him shown at theaters in different parts of the country and the proceeds taken in at the door applied to the care and maintenance of some invalid overseas veteran. If such proceedings are contrary to any laws or treaties now existing, would suggest that such treaty action be taken as will make this possible."

Wants Male and Female Fish.

This letter happens to mention the slacker Bergdoll, although it might refer to any topic under the sun. One congressman tells of "an old fellow who wrote asking for a male and female fish, so that he could go into the business of raising fish, and he also wanted a law compelling people to eat fish at least once each week."

Many a legislator is asked for a lock of the President's hair to be raffled at some entertainment for charity.

"The funniest I've ever had," said this congressman "is from an ardent peace advocate, who wanted us to obtain from the barber of the secretary of state some hair trimmings. In this instance the secretary of state was Hughes, and the trimmings wanted were whiskers."

"Keep in a separate file the letters making odd requests," said another congressman. "Among them is one from a man in my state, although not a resident of my district, informing me that he wanted to come to Washington in order that he might settle a dispute. He was a stakeholder for two of his friends and wanted to know if it were possible for me to obtain him a railway pass, inasmuch as I had been discussing railroad legislation. He naively stated that he had no other reason for coming to Washington, that he was not particularly interested in what congress was doing, but he did want to settle the bet between his friends fairly and without prejudice. The subject of the wager was whether one of the paintings in the rotunda showed an Indian with five or six toes on one of his feet! At first I thought that it was a joke letter, but found out later that the man was regarded as a sort of a Solomon in all disputes in the section in which he lived, and that he had written in good faith."

Answers Them All.

One legislator, instead of paying no attention to peculiar requests, takes pains to answer every one. "I make it a point to answer them because they might not seem as absurd to the writer as they do to me," he explained.

A congressman who has delivered lectures on patent law says that "not a week goes by without requests from inventors. The latest one asked if it is possible to patent a device that will prevent the juice from a grapefruit from squirting on one's shirt front."

He Almost Lost His Job

Unable to stand outdoor work in the cold weather—complaining constantly of a pain in the back—worn out, weak, practically worthless on the job.

That was what the foreman told him. "Jim," he said, "there must be something wrong with you. Have you ever had lumbago before or any kidney trouble?"

"It's probably your kidneys," the foreman tells him. "Well, there's an easy way of overcoming your trouble. Have you ever heard of Dr. Pierce's Anuric tablets? They cure me of kidney trouble a year ago, and I can't praise 'Anuric' too highly. I was just like you."

Hundreds of folks in this vicinity have "Anuric" to thank for their good health.

Wants Dawes to Forsake Pipe

Washington is wondering what Vice President Charles G. Dawes is going to do about the appeal made to him by Charles M. Fillmore (above), Indianapolis, secretary of the "No-Tobacco League" to set a good example for the country by abandoning his famous pipe. It is doubted if the vice president will comply with the request.

Perique Tobacco Is Louisiana Product

Baton Rouge, La.—In the parish of St. James, a short way from New Orleans, is a historic and picturesque industry, infinitesimal in comparison with many of the other bountiful agricultural crops of the state, but which is peculiarly Louisianian. This is the perique tobacco industry, alone in the world.

First grown many years ago by an Arcadian, whose name the tobacco now bears, its cultivation has been kept up continuously ever since by direct lineal descendants of the original M. Perique.

Uncle Sam's New Semi-Rigid Dirigible Largest; But It's Tiny Alongside of Rigid Ship, Los Angeles

The U. S. army's new semi-rigid dirigible, the RS-1, has successfully stood its first tests and is ready for service. It is the largest semi-rigid dirigible owned by Uncle Sam's forces, being three times as large as any other now in use. However, it is less than half the size of the Los Angeles, the navy's giant rigid air craft. ### Wooden Bridges Give Way to Modernism.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Hundreds of old covered wooden bridges, many of them built before the Civil war, have stood staunchly despite their builders' lack of knowledge of many of the present-day principles of structural engineering, according to William S. Titus, chief engineer for the state department of highways.

Despite the highway department's efforts to replace the old covered bridges with modern steel and concrete structures more than a hundred of them remain in use.

While the old covered wooden bridge is not confined to Indiana it is probable more of them were built here than in any other state, Titus said. Timber was plentiful and there were many small streams to be crossed.

From records it is believed the first wooden bridge was built at Dublin in 1834. It was razed a few years ago for a steel structure. The Patoka bridge, on the road between Evansville and Vanderburg, replaced two years ago, was in use 70 years and scores of other bridges stood more than 60 years. The stone in the abutments of the Dublin bridge was Bedford limestone, and as there were no railroads in 1834, it is reasonably believed that it was hauled overland by oxen 150 miles.

Probably the longest covered bridge in the state is at Matamoras. Two of the best preserved bridges are at Rushville and Connersville.

Engineers of pioneer days had a two-fold purpose in covering their bridges, Titus said, explaining that the covering prevented rain, water and snow accumulating in the bed of the bridge, and increasing the deterioration of the floor, and to provide a shelter for persons caught on the highway during heavy rain or snow storms.

Romance and tragedy are woven into the lore of the old bridges. In their shelter lovers out buggy riding stopped for a kiss, and many a lone wayfarer was heated, sometimes to death, and robbed by highwaymen who lurked within the cavernous passages.

It is significant that all the covered bridges were built to cross the stream at right angles, and this accounts for the almost invariable bend in the roadways approaching covered bridges. By building directly across the stream instead of at an angle the builders saved material and expense. Direct traffic lines are necessary today and sometimes a bridge is built at a very pronounced angle across the stream.

The output of crude oil has been fairly uniform in Burma for twelve years.

Horse Meat Is French Luxury as Costs Soar

Paris.—Horse meat, formerly "the poor man's beefsteak," has become a French luxury. Scarcity of butcherable animals is given as the cause of its enormous increase in price.

One pound of choice horse meat at the local markets recently was quoted 9.50 francs—about 40 cents. Pork chops could be had for 8.50, roast beef for 9 and mutton for 7.50.

Besides the gradual disappearance of horses "on the hoof" available for the markets, a tax of 1 franc 25 centimes per pound placed on the meat was said to have influenced higher prices.

The expenditure of the state of South Australia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, are estimated at $517,000,000.

Taxicabs in which the passengers ride in front and the drivers in the rear, have appeared in Germany.

Cleveland Quint Wins 29-21 Decision Over High Passers

Russick's Scoring In Last Half Puts Adams Cagers Out In Front

Blue and White Collects Four Field Goals in First Two Periods and Two in Last; Visitors Hold One-point Lead at Intermission; Return Clash With Lisbon Carded for Lorah's Five Tonight.

RUSSECK of Cleveland John Adams did his stuff and the Fifth City scholastic cage contingent last night pulled out with a 29 to 21 victory over the Blue and White on the local court.

Although in probably less than half a game the star of the Cleveland outfit dropped in four field goals and a couple of fouls, for a little more than a third of his team's points while his cohorts were singularly successful in throwing up a barrier between the basket and the ball.

Four field goals were registered by the Ceramic City lads in the first half and this figure cut exactly in two in the final held with Guard Paul English the only member of the Lorah combine able to solve the scoring combination.

Andras was the big punch in the Cleveland attack in the first half. He rolled in four field goals and a foul for nine points before the intermission and at the same time managed to collect three personal fouls. One more would have sent him off the floor. As a result his activities were curtailed to a great extent in the second half as he successfully dodged Referee Will Watkins' whistle.

A field goal by Forward Kopla, a foul by Pollock and a free toss by Russick, who took Center Counterman's place in the waning minutes of the first half, gave the visitors 13 points, or one more than the score collected by the locals.

Of the 12 points made by high in that half, Hamilton was responsible for five, two field goals and a foul. Forward Wilson made his only field goal of the game in this half and gave way to Heinie Deldrick.

Pusey likewise dropped in a lonely two-pointer, which, with a foul in the final half, represented his total for the evening. Three fouls were contributed by Guard English.

The battle throughout the first half was fought from whistle to whistle with the locals keeping step with Adams all the way. But the Blue and White scorers failed to function in the second half, making only nine points while the Fifth City delegation raised the ante to 16.

Center Bough played a great game for the Blue and White but had to leave the scrap in the last half after four fouls had been chalked up against his efforts. He was supplanted by Allison.

High's defense was working fairly well but Russick and his gang didn't play the ball under the basket all the time. They took long chances and made good on some of them. The floor apparently suited their style and they pressed every advantage.

For the first time this season Lorah's quint will leave the home court tonight to meet Lisbon in a return match. The locals easily trimmed the county seaters in a recent clash here. A special car will take the team and rooters to Lisbon this evening.

In the preliminary to last night's clash the Christian church team of the Sunday school league nosed out a 25 to 23 decision over the High Reserves.

CHAMP ADMIRES WILLS' STYLE

"Gets There in Hurry, Doesn't She," Lenglen's Comment.

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.
CANNES, Jan. 23.—Suzanne Lenglen admitted today a degree of admiration for the tennis ability of Helen Wills, American star, who has come to France to test the mettle of the French star.

"She doesn't seem to move but she gets there in a hurry, doesn't she?" said Suzanne to an International News Service reporter, discussing Miss Wills' match with Mrs. C. F. Aeschliman yesterday. And Suzanne spoke as though she meant it.

Miss Wills smiled when she was told what Mlle. Lenglen had said of her play.

"I thought I jumped around a good deal," said Miss Wills. "As a matter of fact I was bothered by the extreme cold weather. I had all I could do to keep warm, let alone play tennis. I thought the Riviera was warmer."

Miss Wills denied that her failure to remove her sweater while playing Mrs. Aeschliman was a psychological tactic, aimed to show her opponent her confidence in victory.

"I didn't dare to take off my sweater for fear of catching cold," she said. "Perhaps it will be warmer this afternoon when I play Mlle. Contostavos and I will be able to play real tennis."

Miss Wills' unobtrusive manner and her cool and calm manner upon the courts still amazes the Riviera fans, who, having been taught by Suzanne to expect nerves and flashy play, can't imagine how the American girl manages to accomplish so much with so little effort.

The dopesters pick Miss Wills to defeat Mlle. Contostavos, the Greek champion, this afternoon, and believe that she will have little difficulty in doing so, for this far Miss Wills has displayed tennis ability that is only equaled by that of Mlle. Lenglen.

Mlle. Vlastos, the protégée of Mlle. Lenglen, is expected to defeat Mrs. Cadie in the other semi-final match. Thus the fans are looking forward to tomorrow's final with great anticipation, for Miss Wills defeated Mlle. Vlastos in the finals at the last Olympics and the French girl is set for revenge.

They Start Early.
Speaking of the thoroughbred, it is a matter of considerable interest that two of the present leading jockeys are mere "babes" in the woods. Willie Munden, now riding at Tia Juana, is only 15 years of age, while Robert Haviland is only 16. In no other sport, perhaps, can one reach the top so swiftly, nowadays, as in the riding game.

Adopt Short Hose.
We were greatly interested in a recent dispatch from England which stated that women tennis players there were wearing shock socks to add speed to their footwork on the hard courts. We have "short socks" in this country, too, but they are generally rolled down and worn everywhere.

Zivic Wins Decision Over English Welter

Judges' Ruling Not Entirely Popular With Fans; Pittsburgh Boxer Has Big Round in Fourth.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—They pulled another of those humorous decisions out of the hat at Madison Square Garden last night, but this one was not without its humanitarian aspect. It was alleged that Tommy Milligan, English champion, had finished second to Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh, at the end of ten rounds and, although the populace voiced violent disagreement with the verdict, I am convinced that it was all for the best.

A verdict for Milligan, even though earned, would only have led up to a championship meeting with Mickey Walker and there is a law against murder, strictly enforced here whenever they become convinced that the perpetrator should have known better in the first place.

As a matter of fact, it was the original plan to have Walker and Milligan take a flier with the judges last night but the state commission ruled that Walker's "sore toe" was bound to interfere with his breathing or something. Yet there are those who claim that our worthy commission serves no helpful purpose.

Milligan is just one of those eager, ambitious young men who persist in blocking with the point of the chin. Walker would have chastised him severely, I fear.

It should have been a matter of record that Zivic did not. A draw would have been a fair decision. Judged upon the old point for point basis, Zivic was the winner, since his execution was heavier and he had Milligan almost out in the fourth round. But this system no longer prevails here and a round-for-round resume showed Milligan winning five, Zivic four and one, the ninth, being even.

Milligan started with a rush and carried the first two rounds, Zivic being unable to untrack himself and getting a thorough shellacking. Zivic was all over his man in the third, however, and almost stopped him with a left hook to the jaw in the fourth. Jack led throughout the fifth, also, but slowed down and let Milligan take the play away from him in the sixth, seventh and eighth. The final round went to Zivic by a shade.

Funny thing about Milligan. He blocks so well with his jaw, yet can't take a punch without weaving around like a stage drunk.

As for Zivic, there is only one thing he won't stand for. He has been known to object to being hit with paving blocks in the clinches. Neither is a champion or will be.

In the semi-final, California Joe Lynch lasted through ten rounds with Bushy Graham, thereby creating a dual mystery. No one knew how he outpointed Phil Rosenberg out on the Coast. No one knew why he lasted the limit last night, Graham, leading all the way, dropped Lynch with a left hook in the fourth round and should have finished it.

He didn't and that's the only thing I hold against him. Lynch is just the kind of fighter who ought to be finished before he starts.

LEAGUE TEAMS PLAN BENEFIT

Double Bill Arranged for 'Y' Court Jan. 29.

Arrangements are under way for the benefit clash to be staged by Sunday school league teams on Friday evening, January 29, on the Y. M. C. A. court.

The Methodists will tangle with the Christians in the opening tilt of the two-tilt bill and the Penn Avenue M. E. and the First Presbyterians will mix in the windup.

Funds from the games will be used in defraying league expenses.

Sport of Kings.

Despite the continued activities of certain misguided reformers in Ohio and one or two other states, the "sport of kings" continues to thrive. The winter meeting at New Orleans, Tia Juana and Havana have been the most successful in their history and the forthcoming sessions at Miami and Tampa promise great sport. Entries to the big eastern futurities, Kentucky Derby and stakes for aged horses indicate that racing in Maryland, New York, Kentucky, Illinois, Nebraska, Utah, Nevada and other western states, to say nothing of the Dominion of Canada in 1926 will be the most spectacular ever. The love of horse racing, on the part of modern folk, is an inheritance of centuries and cannot be downed by alleged uplifters. There's one thing can be said about a race horse—no one ever could get him to cheat by slipping a bundle of greenbacks under his pillow.

Old Saying Gone Wrong.
That old saying: "Like father, like son," seems to have gone awry in the case of young Bob Fitzsimmons. As one writer stated, a bit facetiously, perhaps, "all young Bob inherited from Ruby Robert was his name."

Await Paolino's Arrival.
Paolino, known as the Basque woodchopper, is slated to arrive in this country shortly, and boxing fans are eagerly awaiting his appearance. If he is anything like the Spallas, Firoos and other mitt men of Latin persuasion we don't think he'll create much disturbance here.

HOREMANS WILL CHALLENGE HOPPE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—It was announced today that Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, who held the 132-balk line title for a trifle more than a month recently, will come to New York within the next week to complete arrangements for his challenge to Willie Hoppe at 181 balk line. Hoppe, once the champion of all styles of balk line, has held the 181 title without challenge for many years.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TILTS TONIGHT

Two Sunday School league contests are scheduled for tonight on the Y. M. C. A. floor.
Chester Presbyterians will play the U. P. five at 7:15, with the M. P.'s and the Park Boulevards meeting in the final.

"Going to the Dogs."

The whole country literally will "go to the dogs" on February 12 and 13 when the Westminster club stages its Golden Jubilee at Madison Square Garden, New York City. A grand total of $15,000 in coin, cups and blue ribbons will be given to the lucky owners. It is said that this will be the richest bench show ever staged anywhere.

A. B. C. Big Event.

It looks as though the A. B. C. Congress which will be held in Toledo, O., March 6 to April 5, will be an epoch making affair. Prize money reaching a total of nearly $100,000 will be distributed. More than 2,250 teams are expected to enter the five-man event and it is interesting to note that 700 will come from Toledo.

The Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

Let's Get This Straight-- What Jewett Means by a "New-Day" Car

It means a car with instant acceleration—a flashing "pick-up" that shoots you through traffic quick as thought.

But it means, also, equally quick "stopping"—the instant, unfailing, cushioned stop possible only with Paige-Hydraulic 4-wheel brakes.

It means, too, wider, freer, clearer vision than any former car has ever had—almost complete elimination of the deadly "blind spot."

It means an ease of steering and control that makes your car seem responsive more to your wish than to your touch.

It means an uncanny ability to slip into parking places unbelievably small.

It means a generous interior roominess—roomy comfort rivaling that of the biggest sedans. And it means, too, a quality Sedan, Paige-Built.

THERE have been speedy cars before this—economical cars—comfortable cars—easily steered cars—quickly accelerated cars—but until The New-Day Jewett there never was one car embodying every last one of these essential qualities! Three minutes after you take the wheel of this New-Day Jewett-Six—you'll know that Jewett, and only Jewett, has built such a truly new-day car!

BELASCO SHOW HERE THURSDAY

New York Cast Will Present "Ladies of Evening."

David Belasco's production of Milton Herbert Cropper's play, "Ladies of the Evening," with the entire New York cast and production is scheduled for presentation at the Ceramic theater next Thursday.

The play takes up the age old problem of a woman's chances of "coming back" after leading a life of shame. The subject is one that might be offensive, if not properly treated, but the wonderful skill of David Belasco has softened the sharp points and the matter is handled with a delicacy that makes it interesting though vivid. There are places in the play where one is apt to draw short breaths and at the finish go away wondering if such things were possible. There are many funny spots in the play, where laughter reigns supreme. The predicament in which the two young gold-diggers find themselves in the seaside hotel and the coming of the delegates to the convention who are out for a good time, all contribute to the fun. The play is artistically staged, as might be expected of a Belasco production and splendidly acted. Both Merrill and Edna Hubbard are the two featured players of the cast.

Second Husband Gives Estate to Enoch Arden

New York.—Abraham Bromberg, the second husband of the late Mrs. Fannie Winderbaum Bromberg, said in Newark that he had withdrawn as administrator of Mrs. Bromberg's estate of $13,000 in favor of her first husband, Samuel Winderbaum, who returned last June after an absence of 23 years, during which he was declared legally dead.

Winderbaum left his home in 1902, when he, his wife and their three children were living in New Haven. He went to San Francisco. His wife received one letter from him, but no further word, and in 1911 she asked the Orphan's court in Newark to declare her husband legally dead, so she might collect his $500 insurance. Her application was granted and she was married to Winderbaum a month later.

When Winderbaum came back last June his wife fainted from the shock of seeing him and died a few weeks later. He retained an attorney to fight for her estate.

NEW NASH CAR IS EXHIBITED*"Enclosed Car" Motor Remarkable Engineering Achievement.

An exhibit that is attracting pronounced local interest is the new Nash "enclosed car" motor being shown to the public for the first time. It was initially introduced at the New York Motor show and proved to be an outstanding attraction. The reason for the discussion centering around this engineering development is the fact that Nash has here approached and solved the problem of providing power, speed, acceleration, quietness, and long life in a passenger car engine from a standpoint entirely new to the industry. In fact Nash engineers have reversed precedent in seeking to improve upon the performance standards of today.

Since the beginning of the industry it has been general practice for automobile engineers to develop their motors upon the basis of the requirements for touring car models. Once they had achieved satisfactory performance, they employed the same motor in the production of their enclosed bodies. The result was that the standard of performance attained in open cars was never reached with the far heavier enclosed models. And buyers have long been accustomed to console themselves with the thought that no enclosed car could be expected to perform like an open car.

But that was not necessarily true, and Nash has deliberately set aside custom and engineered a motor specially for the requirements of enclosed models. In fact, instead of building the performance abilities of the motor up to the lightest car of the line, Nash has created a motor to power the heaviest model and to give that model the kind and calibre of live, alert, powerful performance that has hitherto been linked only with the open car.

TODAY CARDINAL MERCIER OF BELGIUM DEAD

All to the Rock Pile.
A Long Alphabet.
Nelly and Joe.
A Detroit Solomon.

THUR BRISBANE.
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)
Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

Congressman Summers, earnest "dry" Republican from Washington, knows how to fix everything. He would put senators, diplomats, rich and poor violators of the prohibition law, "at work on the same rock pile."

Editors would go to the rocks, not so much for drinking as for "dolag more to break down respect for law than all the Anarchists that ever landed on Ellis Island."

Mr. Yen, Chinese gentleman, formerly at Yale and Princeton, heads a movement to educate all Chinese, and starts, as he must, with an effort to supply the Chinese alphabet. The best he hopes for is to cut down the number of characters to one thousand. To be really educated in China you must know at least five thousand different characters with which to write.

Patient mothers that have taught the 26 letters of our alphabet to little boys and girls will predict that universal education in China will proceed slowly.

Look at your Chinese laundry tickets and you will see what stands between China and universal education.

Ethelbert Stewart, who gathers labor statistics for the government, demands "petting parks" in public spaces for working men and women.

"Nelly from the shoe factory can stand a little petting in a public park by Joe from the stockyards," says the official. He thinks our laws governing the parks are too Puritanical.

Others will suggest that it might be well to persuade Nelly and Joe to set a good example before the so-called "upper classes" by refraining from physical demonstrations of affection in public.

Is Solomon looks down and watches Detroit he learned something last Wednesday.

Mrs. Goosen, foster mother, and Mrs. Przbyla, real mother of four-year-old Mabel Irene, both wanted the child. Judge Brennan could not pretend to cut the child in two and get information that way, but had what seemed a better idea.

A motion picture machine and operator, hidden from sight, took pictures of the two women's faces as the judge solemnly announced his decision to send the little girl to an orphan asylum.

On the moving pictures Mrs. Goosen's face showed more grief, more "biological emotional reaction," the judge called it, than the face of poor Mrs. Przbyla. So Mrs. Goosen got the child.

FIGHT THIS ENEMY NOW

For centuries the world has fought rats, but always in a disorganized way and therefore ineffectually.

The best way to go after them is to deny them hiding places and food.

These pests breed at a great rate, and if they find favorable conditions, soon threaten to overrun any place.

BELGIUM MOURNS BRAVE CARDINAL

Desire Masier

World War Hero Succumbs to Effects of Operation Performed Four Night Ago for Stomach Trouble.

HIS LAST WISH IS NOT FULFILLED

"There's Nothing More to Wait For Now, Except Expression of Divine Will," Farewell Message.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 23.—Cardinal Mercier, courageous in his struggle against death as he was in his defiance of the Germans when they invaded Belgium, died today.

The famous prelate, who was in his 75th year, succumbed to the effects of an operation performed more than a fortnight ago for stomach trouble. He had made a valiant fight for life, but his strength failed him and he died without fulfillment of his last wish, that he might be taken to Malines, the seat of his archbishopric, to die.

The cardinal died at 3:02 this afternoon, after a night of death agony. The prelate was last conscious at 8 a. m. today, and shortly afterward lapsed into unconsciousness. Members of his family, as well as trusted old servants, were at his bedside when death came.

"There is nothing more to wait for now, except the expression of the divine will," the reverend prelate said to those at his bedside, making the sign of the cross, and lapsing into a coma early today. These are believed to have been his last words. His two nephews had just said a last Mass for the prelate, who throughout the night had heard the melancholy chant of the prayer of agony said by priests in the corridors of the hospital of St. Jean and St. Elizabeth.

Church bells throughout Brussels tolled the news of the death of the beloved Cardinal, who is more than a churchman, for he has become a national hero through his courageous stand for Belgium and the Belgians.

Ted Wardles Faces Municipal Court on Fowl Theft Charge

Ted Wardles will face Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, Monday afternoon, upon a charge of breaking and entering, filed by Samuel Lehman, who accuses Wardles of the theft of several chickens. He was arrested yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty.

G. R. Oberlander, driver of a Canton-East Liverpool bus, who is alleged to have violated the traffic ordinance by driving through a red block at the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, last evening, was fined $1 and costs amounting to $6.80. Oberlander was arrested by Captain Conley.

POLICE PROBE SLUM WORK OF ARSENIC PLOT VICTIM HERE

New York Organization Asks About Late Rev. William Christy.

LETTERS FOUND

Self-confessed Slayer Now Inmate of Lima Hospital.

Police today received an inquiry from Rev. W. H. Collinson, New York state leader of the United Christian Workers of America, Inc., 675-677 238th street, Bronx, New York, inquiring about the operations of the so-called United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America, of which Rev. William Christy, who died recently of arsenic administered by his wife, Mrs. Laura Christy, was the brigadier general.

Rev. Mr. Collinson advised that Chief Hugh McDermott, asserted that his organization has no representative in Ohio.

Stationery and other literature found by the police among the personal effects of the itinerant preacher, listed him as one of the organizers of the United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America, which is said to be incorporated under the laws of Ohio.

Son is General-in-Chief.
Rev. Carl W. Christy, East St. Louis, Mo., son of the late poison victim, is general-in-chief of the organization, while A. M. Christy, Akron, another son, is secretary. Others officers included W. Brown and Francis Wilson, said to be residents of Akron. Headquarters of the organization are located at 151 Cutler Place, Park Way, East Akron, which is also the address of Mrs. George Smith, a daughter of the deceased.

Special Patrolman James Malone Quits Job as Solons Act

James Malone, one of the "five dollar-a-month" police officers, whose position is affected by the abolition ordinance considered by the city solons at their meeting Thursday evening, turned in his equipment at the city hall today.

Malone left his flashlight, handcuffs and keys with Desk Sergeant Auderheld to be turned over to Chief McDermott. Other special officers who are still on the city pay roll, are: George Dawson and Walter Torrence.

DOES HE LOOK LIKE A CRIMINAL TO YOU? HE'S BANDIT AND KILLER

Martin Durkin.

A camera study of Martin Durkin, murderous two-gun "sheik bandit," whose handsomeness will wither in the electric chair if Chicago prosecutors have their way.

Durkin, 'Sheik' Bandit, Loses 'Hero Pose' As He Faces Trial

Condemned Slayers Sneer at Prisoner Who Deserted Faithful Chicago Girl for Smile of Village Maiden.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Martin J. Durkin was faced with reality today.

Shut out by the bars and concrete walls of the cells of "murderers' row" in the Cook county jail is the hero worship of hysteria-crazed women.

The "hero pose" is crushed by the sneers and disdain of the slayers awaiting the noose who turned thumbs down on the man who deserted faithful Betty Werner for the smile and allure of Irma Sullivan because "he was lonely."

But worst of all to the man who was "brave" behind his guns but cowered before a twist on the arm without them was the fact that famous counsel on whom he depended to save his neck from the rope have turned aside until some assurance can be given that there is money for his defense.

Two Cleveland Men Given Prison Terms By Lisbon Jurist

A sentence of from one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary was given W. C. Beverly, alias W. George P. Brainard, and Eugene Postle, both of Cleveland, by Judge R. R. Eastman, of Ottawa, yesterday afternoon, when they changed their pleas of not guilty to that of guilty on an indictment charging obtaining money under false pretense.

Mrs. Hannah Kirkham Given $750 Verdict In Damage Suit

A verdict of $750 was returned in favor of Mrs. Hannah Kirkham, of this city, against the International Pulp Stone company, by a jury in common pleas court at Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon. She sued for $1,000 damages to her property by reason of a concrete culvert which the company caused to be constructed along Carpenter's Run in California Hollow. The plaintiff charged that the culvert was not of a sufficient size to carry off the water in the run at certain times of the year and that as a result her property was flooded by back water.

DONALD PARSONS IS FINED $100

Donald Parsons, Hammondsville, is in jail today in default of a $100 fine assessed against him by Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley this morning on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor.

Parsons was arrested in the Diamond by Patrolman Roth last night. Seven pop bottles filled with corn liquor are said to have been found in his machine.

15 BELIEVED MISSING AND 14 INJURED AT ALLENTOWN, PA.

Blaze Sweeps Lafayette Hostel Housing 47 Persons.

ESCAPE CUT OFF

Flames Sweep up Elevator Shafts and Stairways.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 23. Nine dead, fifteen missing and fourteen injured, three of whom may die.

This is the toll exacted by fire of unknown origin which early today swept through the Lafayette hotel here, turning it into a death trap and causing many of the 47 guests to leap from windows in scanty attire.

Heavy Property Damage.
The blaze started at 2:30 a. m. and was still burning at 8 o'clock, when frantic firemen and police, aided by citizens combed the ruins for remains of the trapped guests. Only ten of those registered at the hotel escaped injury. They were occupants of rooms on the second and third floors and were carried to safety by firemen.

The structure, a five-story one, was a complete ruin. It was the most disastrous fire in Allentown's history, according to citizens and estimated hundreds of thousands of dollars damage. Nine bodies, most of them charred beyond recognition, were removed from the hotel. All of the injured were taken to the Allentown and Sacred Heart hospitals.

Two Firemen Injured.
Two firemen, LeRoy Kopinhaber and George Reinhardt, suffered severe injuries when they slipped from precarious perches due to the bitter cold forming an icy mantle over the hotel. The thermometer registered eight degrees below zero at the height of the conflagration.

Only two of the dead were identified, they were:

WILLIAM SHANAHAN, a boarder at the hotel, Allentown.
MISS MARY NOVAK, a waitress. Thomas Harding, of Philadelphia, was driven from his room by the smoke and hung on the window ledge, with his body swinging in mid-air until his hands became so burned that he was forced to let go. He was saved from death or serious injury when his fall was blocked as he struck a body on a porch roof adjoining the hotel.

Woman Leaps to Death.
A woman, her flimsy attire burning, was seen to leap from her fifth floor.

J. W. HODGKINSON HURT IN CRASH

Auto Overturns on River Road Near Culvert.

Earl Hannah, freight agent, of Avondale street, who accompanied Hodgkinson, was slightly cut and bruised.

He was enroute to East End with Hannah when he is said to have lost control of the car, a Willys-Knight coach. The machine buried the high embankment of a dump pile and overturned on its side.

Hodgkinson was taken to the office of Dr. F. F. Davis, Mulberry street, by a passing motorist, and later removed to the hospital where an X-ray examination disclosed injuries to his shoulder and one rib.

The machine, which was badly damaged, was taken to a garage by the McElravy wrecker.
An unidentified driver ditched his car at the Belek street crossing near the W. T. Anderson coal yards about 11 o'clock this morning but no one was injured.

314 STUDENTS AWARDED PLACES ON HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL FOR CITIZENSHIP AND SCHOLARSHIP

Names of 314 students, given recognition because of citizenship and scholarship, appear on the honor roll of the high school for the six-week period ending January 15. Miss Florence Updegraff, principal, announced today.

Group A classification contains 78 names. This group is comprised of those who earned grades of 90 or above in all four subjects. Seventy-one students were given places in the Group B class, representing those with grades of 80 or above in three subjects and the fourth not below 80. Group C, containing 167 names, is made up of students given four grades of 80 or above.

Citizenship is also required of all students on the honor roll. This "includes regular and prompt attendance and good conduct everywhere about the building." The vote of the entire faculty confers good citizenship.

Here are the honor roll students:

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Frederick J. Haskin is the name of the man who answers more questions than any other person in the world.

He is employed by this paper to handle the inquiries of our readers and you are invited to call upon him as freely and as often as you please. Ask anything that is a matter of fact and the authority will be quoted to you.

This Information Bureau which he heads is maintained in Washington because of the great wealth of information accessible there. The average individual has no conception of the extent of this tremendous accumulation of data, nor of the channels through which it is reached.

There is no charge for this service. Ask what you want, sign your full name and address, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address: The East Liverpool Review & Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is it true that there are no snakes in Ireland? F. F. S.

A. A snake that was discovered in Dublin is on exhibition at the National Museum of that city. It is a small specimen, less than 2 feet long and of a harmless variety.

Q. Who are the world's most popular authors? G. A. C.

A. According to a list prepared by Irving Harlow Hart for the Publishers' Weekly, the best sellers for the last twenty-four years were: Winston Churchill; Harold Bell Wright; Booth Tarkington; George Barr McCutcheon; Mary Roberts Rinehart; Zane Grey; Gene Stratton Porter; Eleanor H. Porter; William J. Locke; E. Phillips Oppenheim.

Q. Are flat omelets the same as fallen omelets? C. M.

A. Flat omelets are those made of the yolks and whites of eggs beaten together, not separately. For a fluffy omelet the yolks and whites are separated and beaten well. To the yolks, the milk and seasoning are added. Lastly the fluffy whites are added and carefully blended. Fluffy omelets sometimes fall.

Q. How are vowels formed? M. R.

A. There are numerous theories concerning the formation of vowels. C. K. Rogers writing in "Your Voice and You" says: "The theory most commonly accepted and most generally taught is that they are shaped in the mouth by various positions of the lips and tongue, which positions furnish so many forms or molds into which the stream of vibrated air is poured."

Q. Where is the most powerful lighthouse in the world? N. A. R.

A. The most powerful lighthouse in the world has been erected on Mont Afrique, on the plateau of Dilon in France, for the purpose of guiding aircraft proceeding from and to Paris, Switzerland, Italy and Africa. The lantern consists of eight powerful electric lamps, with dioptric lenses, divided into two groups of four. The light from each four is converged into one beam, one beam facing one way and the other beam the other way; each beam having 1,000,000,000 candle power. The lantern measures eighteen feet across, and each lens is five feet in diameter. Lamps and lenses are mounted on two circular platforms, one above the other. The platforms are mounted on ball bearings on a circular pivot about which they are rotated by an electric motor. On a clear night the light of the beams is visible for 300 miles.

Q. What has been discovered in the survey of so-called "Californian East Movements"? W. T. D.

A. A comprehensive scheme of research is being carried out in California with the objective of investigating the alarming movements to which the earth's crust in that region is subject. The United States Coast Survey and the Hydrographic office have triangulated the land and contoured the ocean floor, and the Geological Survey, aided by the universities of California, are studying the geology in detail. Great faults are found along the Californian coast, for the Sierra Nevada rises to more than 14,000 feet on the east, while the ocean floor drops sharply to a depth of 12,000 feet on the west. The danger zones of structural instability are being carefully mapped so that in future definite predictions of the places where earthquakes may occur may be made from a knowledge of the direction and magnitude of the creeping and tilting movements of the land.

Q. Are there more deaf mutes among men than among women? L. C.

A. A survey of 35,026 deaf mutes gives the following percentages: 19,166 males, 15,860 females; 18,317 of these were white males, 15,110 white females; 16,825 males were native born, and 13,980 females. Negroes, 786 males, 701 females. Chinese, Japanese, or other colored persons 63 males and 49 females.

FOSSIL DATES HUMAN LIFE BACK MILLIONS OF YEARS

Fish Scale Found in Vermont Forces
of Pre-Human Life.

New York.—A fossilized fish scale, scarcely larger than a match head, discovered at St. Albans, Vt., is forcing scientists to extend estimates of pre-human life backwards millions of years, the New York Times says.

"Howell's dawn fish" is the name that has been given this denizen of the Cambrian age, which it had heretofore been supposed was peopled only in invertebrates and plants of low order. And, although there is no information on which to base a description but this "fish plate," as it is called, scientists say it is highly important because it proves that chordata—or primitive vertebrate—existed in what had been considered a "backboneless age," 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 years ago at the dawn of life in its lowest forms.

Prof. B. F. Howell of the department of geology at Princeton university, the discoverer of the plate, said that it corresponded to the scale of the present species of fish. It was described as being part of the armor which probably defended the head and foretrunk of some hitherto unknown fish. It is said it may throw light on the origin of the fish as a genus.

The plate is now in the Princeton museum of paleontology. Professor Howell and Prof. Charles Schuchert of the department of geology at Yale found it last summer on the final day of a series extended over 13 years by Professor Howell to find chordata in Cambrian strata.

The fossil was found in shale which contained trilobites and brachiopods, which enable scientists to estimate the age of the strata, and indicated the fish might have had their origin in salt water, instead of fresh, as had been believed.

The Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GUY. EDGAR POE. WIFE MARRIED FOR MONEY.

FIFTY-FOUR.

On Friday morning, Laurel said to her husband, "I think I'll go out to the lodge in the morning, and you can come there directly from the office. Is there anything you would like to have me take along for you?"

Noble looked blankly across the breakfast table at her. "Uh—"

"Oh, Noble, you haven't forgotten, have you?" There was pain in her lovely eyes.

Then he suddenly remembered. "No, of course, not! Of course not! I was just trying to think if there was anything I would need."

There was uncertainty in her gaze, but her countenance brightened again. "And I am going to the breakfast table at her. 'Uh—'"

"Rowing on the lake at this time of the year? Really—"

She affected a pout, a gleam in her eye. "If you really loved me, you'd gladly—"

Noble guffawed. "You're always spoiling me, dear, and I'm to dull to appreciate it."

Did this account for Noble's attitude toward some of the things she said? She wondered.

She was wearing a dress she didn't care about under her great coat, and when Henry had piled his load inside the log door, she went to work rearranging the place in accordance with ideas she had been forming for several days.

The place where she had spent the first day of her married life with Noble Harwood was perfectly mirrored in her mind, and it was dearer to her than Harwood House itself.

The latter she looked upon as Noble's alone, with herself only a fixture; but the cabin at the head of the rippling, crystal clear lake, was there—their honeymoon castle.

She was very tired, but entrancingly happy, at five o'clock in the afternoon, when she began to expect Noble to arrive. She had gone without lunch, and worked continuously in cleaning the rooms, putting the furniture in new places and getting dinner started. Then, worn and fatigued, she bathed, dressed in the fluffiest frock she had ever had, and sat down to wait expectantly for the sound of a purring motor and crackling wheels on the gravel road.

At last he came, and she pounced upon him in a great burst of happiness. He was all hers now. She did not have to share him with anyone here. How wonderful he was! How she loved his strong shoulders; his head, shaped like a marble she had seen in the Louvre; his stride, in which was all of his power. How lucky she was to be the wife of such a man. He was old enough to know the world's ways, to smooth out life's roughness for her. If only he loved her just a little.

In her ecstasy she covered his lips, his cheeks, his forehead with kisses. He was carried away, and caught her up in an embrace that took her breath away.

"You're so wonderful, Laurel! Oh, so wonderful." Impulsively he picked her up and carried her to the lounge before the fire which was shadowing its flames upon the windows and held her in his lap while he kissed her again and again.

Laurel's eyes were glowing. Noble's listless as they dined. She was so occupied in watching him eat the food she had prepared with such loving care, that she only nibbled at her own portion.

He got the food down with difficulty. The consommé was too highly seasoned, and it tasted as if it had some out of a can. He had such criticisms to make of all of the courses, but he did not betray his thoughts in his manner. He tried to make her think he liked it.

He was smoking by the fireplace, wearing the lounging robe and the soft slippers she had brought for him, and reading the afternoon paper, and Laurel was clearing up the last of the dishes when the bring-bring of a telephone startled the stillness of the lodge.

Giving her a comfortable pat upon the shoulder, he answered the call. From what he said, she guessed that Harry Yancey was calling, and anger, then fury, arose in her. She sat down limply on the lounge. She did not look up at him when he came back to her. "I thought NO ONE knew about this place," she said.

"Uh, Louis must have told him where I was," he responded, his face flushed.

She knew that he lied. Harry Yancey! She hated him more every day. It was he, not her, who had the biggest place in Noble Harwood's heart.

"Paula is out of the city, and he's alone, and I thought—"

She did not accept her cue. "Let's ask him to come out—just tonight. We can be alone tomorrow. He's—"

"All right." Her reply was cold and toneless.

"I wonder if we couldn't ask someone else to come out, so we'll have a foursome for bridge, or billiards, or—"

"I don't know of anyone. Berenice always goes to choir practice on Saturday night."

"Oh, choir practice on Saturday night—so they won't forget how to sing before Sunday, eh?"

She ignored his attempt at a jest. "How about little Alice Kenwick?"

Her eyes met his, and she did not reply immediately. "I don't know whether she would come if she knew it was Harry Yancey. He's married, and he hasn't such a good reputation around town."

"And I don't know whether she would come anyway."

"Well, let's call her."

If the phone had not been where he could hear every word, she probably would have managed to give him some other report than, "She will come. I told her I would call Harry and ask him to bring her out."

She came back to the fireplace with a heavy heart.

"Noble, I thought we were going to— Oh, why is it that you never want to be alone with me any more?"

Boy Uses Dynamite in Game of 10 Pins

San Francisco.—For an hour one morning recently, eleven-year-old John Hickey played a game of 10 pins with 10 sticks of dynamite. The explosive was part of 50 sticks of dynamite stolen by small boys from a construction camp. Policeman Neil Miller, instructed to locate the stolen explosive, found young Hickey playing with the sticks in a lot, promptly halted the game and took the dynamite away from the boy. Other officers recovered more of the stolen dynamite.

She came back to the fireplace with a heavy heart.

"Noble, I thought we were going to— Oh, why is it that you never want to be alone with me any more?"

Mother's Vow Results in Miniature Church

Cresco, Iowa.—The mother of John Gaertner, a French explorer, who was with Napoleon's forces at the burning of Moscow, vowed that if God would safely return her son she would build a church.

The son returned, but his mother, because of financial difficulties, was unable to carry out her plan. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Anna Huber, however, took up the work, and the result was the building in 1885 of St. Anthony's Catholic chapel.

The church is of native lime rock. It is 11 feet wide and 17 feet long. It has four stained-glass windows, a tall belfry, a cross, four pews, a center aisle, a main altar and two side altars. It seats eight persons.

The tiny edifice, dedicated to the memory of John Gaertner, was maintained by the Huber family until 1924, when St. Anthony's Chapel association, formed by 65 grandchildren of Mary Anna Huber, took over its care.

Taxing Americans In Paris

The French government, driven to desperate remedies to raise money, proposes to tax foreign residents as it does French citizens. This policy, if approved by parliament, would impose the French income tax on many thousands of Americans, in addition to the tax those Americans must pay at home.

It would be a serious thing to them. The French income tax rate is something to shudder at. It would make Americans pay $8,000 on a $10,000 income and $5,000 on a $15,000 income.

There is a way out, to be sure. The French evade heavy taxation by using their own judgment about the size of their tax returns. The average French man last year reported an income of only $25 above the exemption allowed. If the Americans followed the same course, they could still afford to live in France, live well there, because the low value of the franc makes cheap living.

Otherwise the rich or well-to-do would sell their estates or leave their hotels and pensions, and would come back home professing a new affection for their own country. The "American colony" in Paris would be decimated. Which, come to think of it, might not be a bad thing for either country.

All-American Intelligence

An American editor, wanting to keep in closer touch with Mexican affairs, decided to subscribe for a Mexican newspaper, but didn't know how to select one. So he wrote a letter addressed blindly to "The Leading Daily Newspaper, Mexico City, Mexico," trusting that somebody down there would be intelligent enough to deliver the letter and inspire a reply. Weeks passed. Nothing doing. Mexican inefficiency! That couldn't have happened up here.

Then the editor bethought himself of the American embassy at Mexico City, eager of course to promote interchange of intelligence between the two countries, and wrote there for information. Early three weeks later he received a reply stating that the matter had been referred to the American consul general. No reply yet from that source. Well meaning, but inefficient, as we expect diplomatic machinery to be!

Meanwhile the persevering editor had a brighter idea. He wrote to the Pan-American Union at Washington. By return mail came a letter giving him the information he desired, with enclosures telling of available publications concerning every Latin-American country and every phase of Latin-American relations. The next day he received a bundle of representative publications. One hundred per cent efficiency!

The incident is passed along for its academic interest and also for its practical usefulness in furthering intercourse with the other Americas.

Making Virtue Prevail

"The men of ancient times," wrote Confucius, "who wished that virtue should prevail throughout the nation, first saw to the proper regulation of their own states. Planning the proper regulation of their own states, they first controlled their own families. Desiring to control their own families, they first attended to the purification of their own hearts. Aiming at the purification of their own hearts, they first sought to be sincere. Washing to be sincere, they enlarged their knowledge. Desiring to enlarge their knowledge, they examined into the nature of things."

These words certainly map out a man-size life work for any honest person, whether an ambitious statesman or merely a private citizen. They carry significant advice.

The fact that too few men of present times in China live up to these wise words of their greatest teacher—just as too few men in Occidental countries live up to the wisdom of their noblest leaders—does not lessen the value of the words. What wonders might be achieved in the reduction of the crime wave and the promotion of enlightened peace among nations if the average citizen set about needed reforms under such a regime!

Feminine Superiority

A Chicago woman's excellence has brought her to the divorce court.

When she beat her husband persistently in golf games, and then sweetly ventured to give him advice about his playing, it was too much, and he struck her. When she checkmated his king at chess, he upset the board, swore and gave her a black eye. Then she gave up and asked for a divorce. She liked her husband, in spite of his failures and faults, but she couldn't stand his reaction to her superiority.

Sure, the man was a brute. But the woman in this case seems to have lacked tact. It is well known that women in general are superior to men, but it has often been agreed among philosophers that their highest merit is to conceal their superiority and indulge men in the delusion that they're the lords of creation.

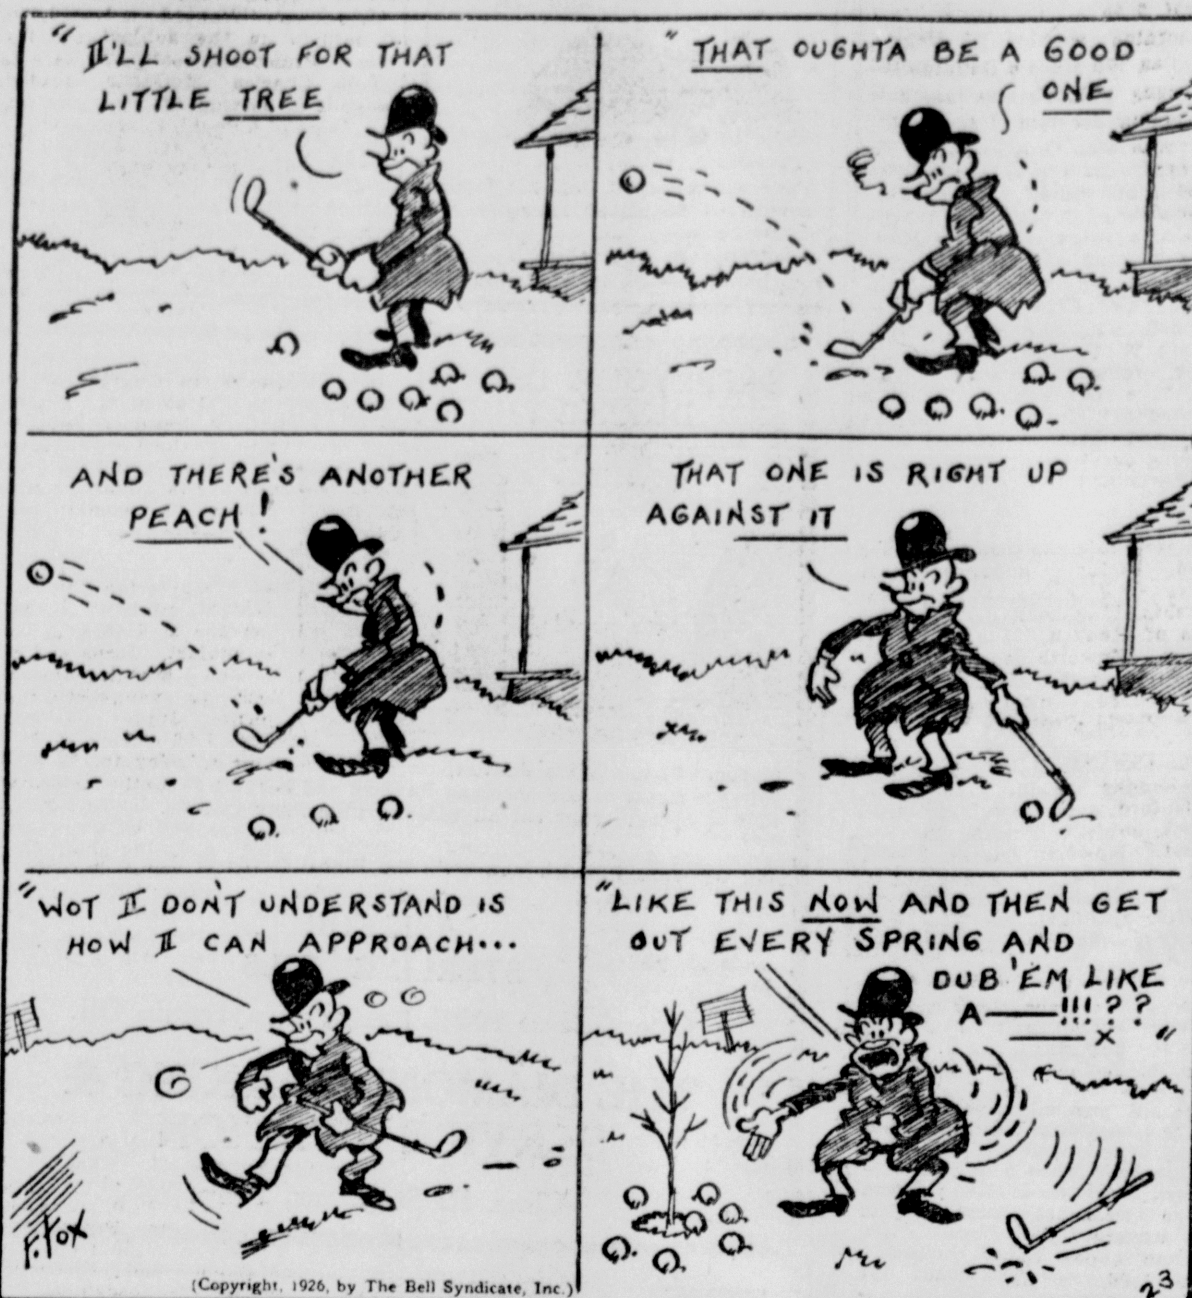

If this woman had been just a little bigger, maybe she would have lost to her husband deliberately, satisfied with the knowledge that she could beat him if she wanted to.

Less wild game in this country now, but plenty of wild games.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. — From the windows of the elevated trains cutting a yellow serpentine way through the crowded East Side one may see the jostling tangle of life among New York's poor. In the early morning through uncurtained windows are revealed sleeping clots of humanity—sometimes five and six to a room.

In almost every window is a straggly geranium pot. Little whorls of smoke curl from chimney tops. The East Side fires are of picked-up kindling. Fire escapes are dotted with lean cats foraging for morning milk bottles and leftover scraps.

The air seems musky with sleep. There is little insomnia in the slums. They are abed early if the have jobs up early. Children splash their faces to a certain white above grimy necks and rush off to school with a shout of joy.

Some of the youngsters are "sewed in" for the winter. Their clothes are not removed from late fall to early spring. Yet they are red-cheeked and bright-eyed in their filth and about the sturdiest physical specimens to be found in the city.

Along the curbs the shivering old men with hempen beards and shawled women set up their pickle, fried fruit and hot bread stands and uncover their tubs of gherkins. Pickles are often a breakfast commodity on the East Side. Digestion is rarely a problem.

The young girls who rush forth to the factory lofts are given to blue serge suits and their faces are powdered a ghastly white. Yet each carries a dangle of vanity case. Quick lunch rooms splatter their windows with breakfast fare in frosted white and have a clattering gusto.

Stores open early to catch morning trade. Values are stressed. Fire sales are heralded year in and out. Bankrupt stocks. "Must Vacate at Once" and "Building Coming Down" are on all sides. Movies are open at 9 a. m. to comfort those without jobs.

New York women are said to be the best shod in the land. One never sees run-over heels even in the areas of squalor. Men are not so fastidious.

On the other hand—pardon the frayed cuffs—most New Yorkers of masculine persuasion are extremely meticulous about their gloves. A soiled or wrinkled glove is as unusual as a lady's run-over shoe.

It seems to me far greater courage is required to wear snow white gloves than a monocle. And to wear a silk hat with them as they do at the opera is simply the last doggone word in sartorial bravery.

There is a hard boiled prize fighter with undershot jaw and beard, that has to be removed with a blow torch. Two elegantly caulked ears and nose with "concave" indentation who clings to spats along with his sweater and cap. He hangs around West Forty Seventh street and it is noticeable no one twits him about his conceit.

Quick success is a part of Manhattan's mad phantasmagoria. Among the first nighters at a recent brilliant opening were a former delicatessen keeper, a queenly lady who once conducted a theatrical boarding house, an ex-newspaper reporter with a successful play, an ex-milkman and a realtor who arrived five years ago in the steerage.

A restaurant in the Fifties has a sign on its entrance reading: "We desire a clientele of fastidious people who like good food well cooked and who prefer a studied quiet to jazz noise. We serve no intoxicants and forbid its use on the premises." It is nearly always empty.

Because of the coal strike in Great Britain, 1,500 colliers in the Afan Valley have not done a day's work for more than a year.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Modern And Ancient Piracy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—The capture of a British coasting ship plying between Shanghai and Tientsin, by Chinese freebooters, constitutes the most brazen bit of piracy in the Yellow Sea, if not in the world, in years. That in modern times, when international law binds supposedly powerful things about the world and chains international lawlessness on both land and sea, such a thing could occur is seemingly impossible, and yet it was accomplished, and fearfully easily.

About two score of Chinese boarded as passengers the English ship, which carried freight up and down the coast. When a short distance out of port, they took possession of the vessel. A slight skirmish took place in which the captain was shot in the thigh. The other officers were imprisoned. After that the pirates forced the crew to sail down the coast 1,000 miles or so to a haunt near the city of Hankow. There the loot was taken ashore in small boats and the ship turned over to its officers. The place near Hankow is said to be an honest-to-goodness pirate's den.

The method employed by these pirates—that of boarding the ship under the guise of passengers and then proceeding to business—seems to be the accepted fashion for the really up-to-date pirates of the twentieth century. It is not very dangerous, and usually brings excellent results, as the crew is taken by surprise and is not capable of offering much resistance. Likewise it is a very effective method for the less adventurous bandit—as shown in the recent robbery in Mexico in which men, women and children were slaughtered, like so many cattle—who also finds that his skin is much safer than if he gave his victim a fair chance.

But what would Captain Kidd, Captain Avery, Bartholomew Roberts or Drake have thought of such antics? Or what would Robin Hood, or the Black Douglas, or Wallace, or Jesse James have done if they had set out to do some daring deed of freebootery? If their commentators are to be believed they fought, raided, pillaged, not for the sake of spoil alone, but for an equal love of the adventure of it and they took as they gave, with rare sportsmanship. The science of iterranean was plagued with two bold buccaneers, the Barbarossa brothers, who were terrors from the Pillars of Hercules to the Isthmus of Suez. They raised the coasts, they harassed the ships of all nations and all creeds, and they were feared wherever maritime men gathered to discuss business.

The Famous Red Beard.

Of the two, the famous "Red Beard" was the more notorious. The fleets of England, Holland, Spain and the Italian nations were sent against him, but he laughed at them and shipped through their fingers. He captured the rich Papal galleys as a defiance to the Christian world, and he chained the Christians to his oars as the most miserable of beings—galley slaves.

The Mediterranean highway was unsafe because of him. He was the phantom of the ship lanes and he struck cruelly and swiftly. Finally he changed his base of operations to the Isle of Jerba, off the coast of Tunis, where his fortunes began to turn. After many battles he fell before the onslaughts of Charles V. of Spain near Tremizan, in Africa. He had escaped, but when he learned that his loyal men were hard put, he returned to die with them.

During the colonial period of America the pirates of the Spanish Main roamed the seas, pillaging, exacting tribute, and spreading terror amongst the nations. To combat them the French and English fought fire with fire and sent equally bold seafarers against them. Sir Francis Drake was one of these romantic gentlemen and his exploits have made history. He scamped over the world, laughing at odds and misfortune, looting Spanish ships and escaping miraculously. And perhaps, if history is correct, his depredations were not only in reprisal.

Piracy and banditry has always followed in the wake of wars and confusion. The rivers, harbors, and seas of old China are the last resort of these romantic characters, but the junk cannot compete with the modern steamship. Hence the practice of sneaking up on the victim in the guise of passengers is followed.

Gradually, however, this too will vanish as order is restored in China and then, with perhaps an occasional recrudescence, piracy will go the way of boarding parties, frigates, Viking ships, and sails. And with it will conclude the most romantic chapter in the history of the sea.

Writes Thanks From Venice.

People who suffered from serious diseases that started with a simple cough or cold realize the importance of checking them right at the start. W. H. Gray, Venice, California, writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is wonderful for attacks of coughs and colds." "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives quick relief from coughs and colds. Buy a bottle today and keep it on hand for the slightest emergency. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold Everywhere."

"We suah have, doctor," chorused the family. "We've bought a sanitary cup and we all drink from it."

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find it in the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium, 121 West Fifth Street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

184. Who was the first person that ever went to Heaven?
Answer: See John 3:13.
185. Is not David, the sweet singer of Israel, in Heaven?
Answer: See Acts 2:34.
186. Did God Promise to take Abraham, His friend, to Heaven?
Answer: See Genesis 13: 14-16.
187. Did Abraham ever get that land?
Answer: See Acts 7:5.
188. Can Jehovah break His word, or will He Resurrect Abraham and give him that promised land?
Answer: See Hebrews 6:13.
189. Did the Patriarch Job expect to be raised from the dead and live on the earth again?
Answer: See Job 14:13-15.
190. Did any of the Patriarchs receive the promised blessings before they died?
Answer: See Hebrews 11:13.

Presbyterian Choir Will Give Sacred Programs Tomorrow

The choir of the First Presbyterian church will present special music at the morning and evening services tomorrow. At the morning service an anthem, "Out of the Deep," by Conrad Wirtz, and a soprano solo by Mrs. Richard C. Sant will be featured. During the evening service the choir will sing "Behold, the Days Come," by H. H. Woodward, with soprano and tenor solos by Mrs. John Patton and O. F. Johnson.

Sunday evening, January 31, the choir will present the Dynevor concert company in a sacred musical program, when oratorio numbers will be given from Handel's "Messiah" and Mendelssohn's "Elijah," with chorus numbers by an augmented choir.

On February 12 the choir of 30 voices will sing from the Kaufmann-Baer broadcasting station in Pittsburgh, when they will present a varied program of sacred and secular numbers.

Preparations are under way to present the Masonic Glee club of Youngstown in a special program in the auditorium of the church within the next three weeks.

Train of Scout Has Been Blazed in Home, School
and Church.

The Boy Scout movement has passed the experimental stage. There may be modifications of it in the future looking to even greater efficiency, but its worth has been proven so effectively that none needs to question its being a national asset.

The scout has written his trail in the open places of nature. Boys have by means of scouting learned to know nature and to love it. The exercise of body, mind and soul has been in the great out-of-doors as much as possible. Healthful conditions are thus supplied for the proposed exercise in all the three fundamental lines.

But the trail of the scout has also been blazed in the home. The boy who is taught the necessity of obedience in connection with the things he personally wanted to do cannot help taking that lesson into his home life. He will more readily obey his parents than before.

Important also is the cleanliness of mind which the scout learns in his regular course. The test of promiscuous contact with boys who know too much in the wrong way will not be met among his fellow scouts. Clean, right thinking is constantly held before the scout as a standard to be maintained. If by chance the opposite for a moment shows its face the frown of another scout soon puts it to flight and forbids its reappearance.

Scout in the School.
The Boy Scout movement does not aim to assume the responsibility of either home or school for the boy, but to supplement and intensify the training of both, in character formation.

The relation of the scout movement to the school is one of the closest cooperation and mutual helpfulness. One high school principal has described scouting by saying: "It has done what no scheme has ever done before—made the boy want to learn."

As we have shown in the previous article, the scout movement is absolutely non-sectarian both in principle and in practice. But its program provides recreational activities which are easily adapted as activities of his own church. He does not get the desire to graduate an adjunct to the work of the church and the Sunday school. The movement serves an important need in keeping the boy in contact with the religious so evident in growing boys.

Scouting does not specifically teach religion, but it does both directly and indirectly inculcate those ideals which will help boys to put in practice every day the religious faith which may be theirs.

When a boy's mind is occupied with the Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

NASH

Greater Power and New Smoothness Quietness Responsiveness

On View Here!

"Enclosed Car" Motor

Introduced at New York Show

Our showrooms are now devoted to a Special Nash Exhibit that practically duplicates the great New York Show display.

Here you may view personally the important new Nash developments—particularly the great new Nash "Enclosed Car" Motor.

In creating this new motor Nash deliberately disregarded general precedent which was accustomed to shape the capabilities of a motor to open car requirements.

On the contrary, Nash especially engineered this motor to provide the finest calibre of performance for the enclosed car.

In utter smoothness, in quietness and in phenomenal acceleration, this new "Enclosed Car" Motor clearly outdistances all that has gone before.

It creates an absolutely new standard of enclosed car performance that will prove a revelation to you—for it is surpassingly superior in every phase of operation.

There's a full 25% greater volume of symmetrically smooth power—power without a single "rough spot" thruout the entire range.

And the speed with which you accelerate is lightning-like—23% faster than formerly in going from any given rate to a higher rate.

Yet your travel-cost per gallon of fuel is held down to the old low level.

And so expertly is the motor designed and constructed that under average driving conditions you may drive it to a mileage high in the five-figure class without further thought except to change oil at the usual periods.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 23.— Events moved rapidly this afternoon towards a settlement of the anthracite miners' strike.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, formally called upon Alvan Markle, of Hazelton, as chairman, to summon a meeting of the joint operators and miners negotiating committee, which adjourned in New York recently after failing to agree upon a basis for settlement.

Within a short time Markle announced that he would accede to Lewis request and call the meeting.

ing American adherence with their hot ploughshares. Her friend, the good bishop, had the metal painted bright red, instead of heating it, and the lady walked barefoot through the ordeal in triumph.

TODAY

Because Mr. Burbank is a "scientist," wise, good people are disturbed that he should "see no proof whatever of the soul's immortality, nothing to indicate that when we die we go anywhere except into the ground."

In this case the deepest scientist may be overruled by the simplest man.
This universe, our little corner of it at least, would be a preposterous, brutal joke of this short life were to end everything.

A cricket by the railroad track sees no reason to believe that passing express trains will ever reach Chicago.
He may even doubt the existence of any Chicago. That cricket's opinion means as much as that of the highest scientist concerning immortality.

If your faith has been shaken by the estimable agricultural scientist, Burbank, you may find comfort in the words of a scientist infinitely greater, Charles Darwin.

He said:
"Believing as I do that man in the distant future will be a far more perfect creature than he now is, it is an intolerable thought that he and all other sentient beings are doomed to complete annihilation after such long continued slow progress. To those who fully admit the immortality of the human soul the destruction of our

Seeks Defense Fund.
Because of this, Durkin, ordinary auto thief and confessed police killer, is not stepping along a path of roses today toward the scene he pictured of an admiring courtroom filled with women listening to an impassioned plea from a famous attorney. Instead, he waits alone in a cell, ignored by his fellow prisoners while his family tries to raise a defense fund so that he may have eminent counsel when he faces arraignment on January 29 of charge of having shot to death Policeman Harry Gray.

For Durkin, who has scattered ill-gotten gains along a hectic path of susceptible girls, illicit liquor and stolen automobiles, is "brake" today, depending as he has in the past of his troubles, on the loyalty of his mother and his sisters to get him out, find the money for his defense and save him from the rope.

Indications are that the confessed killer will go to trial first on the charge of killing Gray, who was slain when a police trap set for Durkin failed. Arraignment on the charge of killing Special Government Agent Edward J. Shanahan, for which the federal government sought Durkin the length and breadth of the land, has been set for February 8.

Another Rent in 'Romantic Character'
CHICAGO, Kan., Jan. 23.—Martin J.
Durkin, confessed killer, "safety-first" auto thief, and suave wrecker of the lives of many susceptible women, saw another rent torn in the robe of his
"romantic character" today.

The light through the "big-hearted boy" camouflage was shed by the first girl he married—June Stokes, happy now as the wife of a well-to-do business man and the mother of a baby girl.

June, who was 17 years old when the subsequent salesroom auto stealer first flashed his fickle smile on her,
made a strong case against the man who can see a rope dangling from his cell window today. It was not an attack. It was an unconscious case, standing bare and ugly in a few statements of facts.

She first met Durkin at a skating rink. She was impressed with his suave manner and "a certain way" he had.

Then she goes on:
"We were married in the city hall by Judge Lynch in September 1919. I don't know whether Marty was working or not. I don't believe he was?"
Then—"I paid the rent."

help us in this work of mercy and love."

Sheriff Returns From Lima.
Police, in their reply to Rev. Mr.
Cullison, referred him to Rev. Carl
W. Christy, who heads the organization and who is now in Akron where he was called by the death of his father. The younger Mr. Christy visited with his father over Christmas, leaving here for St. Louis on Saturday, January 9, a few days before the minister's death.

Sheriff George Wright, who took Mrs. Christy, self-confessed poisoner of her husband to the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Lima, where she will be placed under observation, was back in Lisbon today.
Mrs. Christy, who rode to Lima in the back seat of the sedan automobile, driven by Mr. Wright, talked little during the nine-hour trip, but wept just before she reached her destination.
The officers made no attempt to question her during the journey.

The sheriff, who was accompanied by D. K. Leyda, Wellsville railroad detective, spent the night in Columbus and on Friday delivered William Clutter to the Lancaster Industrial school.

First M. P. Church Revival Campaign Closes On Sunday

Rev. W. A. Knapp Will Preach in Morning, Afternoon and Evening.

The three-week evangelistic campaign being conducted in the First Methodist Protestant church will close with the Sunday night sermon by Rev. W. A. Knapp, Westerville evangelist. "The American Home" will be the topic at the Sunday afternoon service.

Services will also be held Sunday morning. Special music will be rendered by the choir and Prof. R. E.
Kauffman, Dayton evangelistic singer, throughout Sunday. The choir, on Sunday night, will sing "Hallelujah Chorus."

During the song service last night
Prof. Kauffman sang, "The Cleansing Blood," one of his own compositions.
"The Singer and the Song" was rendered by Miss Lydia Bennett, soloist, Misses Lillian Brookes and Freda Mc-Connell and Messrs. James Hall and John Brookes.

"The Gospel That Saves" was the subject on which Rev. Mr. Knapp spoke last night. He said, in part:

"There was never a time in the history of the race when we've had as many different 'gospels' preached to us as we have today. Many are confused, not knowing which is right, which to believe. But there is one true gospel, the gospel of Christ. I'd rather be a pessimistic truth teller than an optimistic liar. Some preach the gospel of sunshine, reformation, education, Russellism, Christian science, New Thought and others.

"It isn't New Thought, reformation nor education men need. It's salvation. These gospels do not touch our primary needs. You must realize that men are lost now, not only at the judgment. The moment God steps over the line and transgresses the law of God, He is a sinner. It may not be a very bad sin, but the transgressor is guilty before God. There is no difference between the man who commits a small sin and one who commits a large one. Both have sinned. One man steals a loaf of bread because he is hungry and another robs a bank of $50,000. Who is the thief? Both are

AMZI BERRY DIES IN AKRON

Confectioner Succumbs to Pneumonia After Week's Illness.

George Amzi Berry, confectioner and fruit dealer here for more than 25 years, died in his home, 985 Arlington street, Akron, at 5:30 o'clock this morning following a week's illness of pneumonia. He visited local relatives just a week ago today.

Mr. Berry has been living in Akron for about six years. He conducted a fruit stand and confectionery store in Sixth street for many years and later was in business in Dresden avenue.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Louis, at home. Two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Weaver, of this city, and Mrs. Nettie Mehrall, of Wellsville, and two brothers, Sheridan Berry, of this city, and Charles Berry, of Follansbee, also survive. Mr. Berry was a member of East Liverpool lodge No. 258, B. P. O. Elks.

While funeral arrangements have not been completed, burial probably will be made in Akron Monday.

M. D. Crackel Will Speak at Sunday Afternoon Meeting

M. D. Crackel, of Cleveland, will address members of the Sunday Afternoon club tomorrow at 3:45 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. on the subject, "Play the Game."

Having been connected with young movement for 28 years he is an authority on problems which confront the young man. He has spent most of his life in Cleveland and at present is executive secretary of the West Side Y. M. C. A. there.

The Sunday Afternoon club is an organization which promotes Sunday afternoon meetings of interest to young men between the ages of 16 to 25. The club is officered by a president, secretary and five committees of seven members each.

C. of C. Board Meeting

New Directors Qualify.
Upon the request of C. C. Cline, president of the Kiwanis club, the board discussed the advisability of conducting a community chest campaign here for relief and welfare activities. A committee, consisting of
T. E. Lewis, John W. Moore and D. M.
Ogilvie, was named to confer with representatives of churches, service clubs, lodges and similar bodies to ascertain the sentiment.

New members of the board, including Joseph Betz, C. V. Beatty, Charles Hendershot, J. M. Manor, T. V. Mill-kan, Frank Swaney and W. H. Vodrey, were sworn into office for terms of
three years.

The board went on record as favoring the erection of street signs throughout the city, and a committee consisting of J. S. Hilbert, C. W. Hendershot and T. V. Milligan was named to carry out the plan.

Tree Committee's Report.

A report of the tree committee regarding the needs of the city so far as trees are concerned was also filed with the board. This report consisted of a 36-page survey and 40 or more photographs, bound in book form. It was compiled with the assistance of Edmund Secrest, Wooster, state forester, and J. S. Houser, also of Wooster, entomologist, his assistant, following a visit to this city last fall.

The committee was made up of Wilson Smith, John Kell, J. T. Croxall, L. C. Cooper and Ralph Couch. It is the only time that such a survey was made in East Liverpool. Shade trees in Thompson Park, West Fifth street park and also along residential sections of the city were studied and discussed in the report.

Several thousand city maps were ordered printed. City Engineer John A. George will co-operate with the board in the preparing of these maps.

A committee consisting of Patrick McNicol, C. C. Ashbaugh, W. H. Vodrey, R. G. Thompson, J. R. Croxall and J. S. Hilbert was named to confer with city council at the next meeting to urge the Avondale street improvement this summer. A petition, representing more than the necessary 51 per cent of the property holders, has been prepared and will be submitted to council.

The board voted "yes" on ballot No.
47, relating to resale prices, submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

DEATH ROLL

Allen Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Miss Esta Allen, former resident of this city, who died at Warren, Pa., will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday. The body will arrive here Monday.

COLD WAVE HITS TELEPHONE LINES

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23.—While the promised cold weather failed to reach the point predicted by the weather bureau, the cold snapped many wires of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, greatly hampering communication.
Company officials said today.

A total of 95 long distance circuits were out of commission today. Of these 23 were in the eastern division; 52 in the southern division, 20 in the western and two in the northern.

The average temperatures in the various telephone divisions were from zero to 15 above, the company said.
The lowest temperatures reported in the southern part of the state.

Contractors Begin Work Monday on West Eight Street

Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin, road building contractors, will begin work Monday on the West Eighth street contract awarded them last fall.
County Surveyor Lloyd Kirk has been informed.

The contractors will start making a fill on the south side of the road.
Excavating on the north side of the highway between Shady-side avenue and the city limits will begin as soon as the weather permits. Practically all private right-of-way, which was purchased for the improvement, has been vacated.

The road to Wellsville will not be closed during the improvement but automobile owners will travel it at their own risk. The contractors hope to complete the job early in the summer.

Five Persons Die, 40 Hurt as Aerial Device Collapses

VALENCIA, Jan. 23.—Five persons were killed and 40 injured when an aerial merry-go-round collapsed while in motion at a fair near here. All the places in the "aeroplane" cars of the merry-go-round were occupied and the collapsing device fell into crowds gathered nearby.

room, despite warning shouts from horror-stricken spectators below. She landed on the icy pavement and was instantly killed.

The fire was discovered by a clerk.
He attempted to arouse the guests.
The elevator shaft was on fire and the staircase was also burning. He resorted to the telephone, rining each guest's room. The panic-stricken guests tried to rush into the corridors but were driven back. The corridors were a mass of flames.

The fourth and fifth floors suffered heaviest. The flames spread to the lower floors but the arrival of firemen enabled their occupants to reach safety.

Escape Is Cut Off.

By the time the firemen arrived the inside of the hotel was a mass of flames and escape by the stairway and elevator were cut off. Frightened and bewildered guests stood at their windows, waiting to be rescued. Spectators standing on the sidewalks below could see the occupants of the burning building and hear their cries, but were unable to offer help.

Firemen ran up ladders and started carrying down those of the guests who had not jumped or slid from their windows by improvised ropes. Automobiles and taxicabs were commandeered to take the injured to hospitals.

List of Missing.

The hotel, one of the oldest in Allentown, was built in 1900 and was valued at $175,000.

Firemen were waiting for the ruins to cool so that they could search them for bodies of the reported missing.
Some are believed to have been trapped on the fifth floor when the roof of the building collapsed.

Among the missing are:
William Frederick Hazelton, Pa.
A. Jackson, Hazelton, Pa.
W. Grosky, Trenton, N. J.
C. A. Bechtoldt, Belleville, N. J.
G. K. Keler, Binghamton, N. Y.
Geo. V. Forry, Philadelphia.
R. J. Charles, Philadelphia.
Anton Turassau, Allentown.

$100,000 FIRE MENACES TOWN

Firemen and Citizens
Save East Brookfield, Mass.

EAST BROOKFIELD, Mass., Jan.
23.—Firemen and citizens saved this town from destruction by fire today.
The plant of the Oliver and Joseph Dufault company, shoe manufacturers, the district courthouse building, a store house and a private garage were destroyed by flames, which started in the Dufault company plant.

Carried by a high wind, sparks fell everywhere.
The total damage is estimated at $100,000.

Cardinal Mercier Dead

when the German armies invaded that small country.
Throngs gathered in the streets before the hospital and knelt in prayer, tears streaming down their cheeks.

Mourning World Over

The death of the cardinal has been anticipated for more than a fortnight, but he has displayed remarkable constitutional vigor and long after his physicians gave up all hope he fought valiantly for life and it was his one last wish that he might recover sufficiently to be taken back to his beloved Malines, there to die where he had lived and worked, among the people of his archdiocese.

Cardinal Mercier will be mourned the world over, for he was more than a cardinal of the church, more than a Belgian hero, more than a great scholar—he was an international figure, a man who defied the grey hordes of Germany when they were sweeping over Europe and spreading world consternation. This frail and aged prelate stood staunch defiance of the German emperor's army, he refused to obey their orders and he continued to work for the relief of the people of Belgium and the German army officials dared not touch him, lest they bring even greater world hate down upon their heads.

Once the war passed into history Cardinal Mercier as a world figure was an advocate of all peace measures, and if he retained in his heart the slightest hate for his late enemies he did not let the world know it.

Worked for Church Union.
The funeral arrangements have not been made but it is expected that after brief ceremonies in Brussels the body will be taken to Malines, seat of his archbishopric, and there the body will lie in state in the Cathedral of Malines.

Even in his dying day the cardinal worked for the end which has always been his great ambition—the union of the Catholic church and the Church of England. During the past week he held conferences at his bedside with leaders of the Church of England, discussing the often-discussed problems of bringing these two ecclesiastical faiths together.

The energy which he spent in these conferences undoubtedly hastened his death.
For several years Cardinal Mercier had carried on conversations relative to the union of the two churches, and in these conversations he was given absolute authority by the Pope to negotiate as he saw fit.

Born at Braine.
Cardinal Mercier was born at Braine, Belgium. His father died while he was yet a child, leaving his mother with seven children in straightened circumstances.

While yet a child the young Desire Mercier felt that his career lay in the church, and he was admitted to the seminary of Malines at an early age, later attending the University of Louvain.

At Louvain the Cardinal spent 33 years of his life, first as a student, later as a professor, and finally as dean of the Institute of Philosophy of this university. He was distinguished as a philosopher long before he became a popular hero during the war. His works upon philosophy are still standard text books.

In 1905, the Pope named him Archbishop of Malines and primate of Belgium. In the following year he was elevated to the cardinalate.

Resisted German Invaders.
When Germany invaded Belgium he was Cardinal Mercier who led the moral resistance against the invaders.
He defied the Germans of every hand when they sought to limit his exercises of spiritual authority. He disregarded their "invitation" to him to remain within the precinct of the archiepisco-pal palace. At Christmas, 1914, over the protest of the military governor of the German army in Belgium, he issued a Christmas pastoral to the suffering Belgians, entitled "Patriotism and Endurance." The military governor, General von Bissing, immediately forbade the reading of the pastoral and ordered the cardinal to appear before him. The cardinal refused and he was arrested and held in prison for three days, but was released when it was found that imprisonment failed to make him amenable to German commands.

The Cardinal continued his message of loyalty to the Belgian people.
When Herbert Hoover was directing Belgian relief, Cardinal Mercier was one of his earnest co-operators.

During the Versailles peace conference it was suggested that he be invited to attend as a delegate, and President Wilson made a special trip to Malines to pay his respects to the prelate.

In 1919 Cardinal Mercier came to the United States to personally thank the American people for their aid to suffering Belgium. He was given honorary degrees of Harvard and other universities.

During his dying days it was one of his greatest joys to know that the sacked library of Louvain, wantonly burned by the Germans, was being reconstructed, largely through American aid.

Electors of Franklin Township Will Pass on Proposal.

Centralization of education in Franklin township will be submitted to the electors of that township at the November election. This was determined at a joint meeting of the Franklin township board of education and also of the board representing the Summitville special school district.

Elimination of several teachers, and the offering of a two year high school course will result should the proposition of centralization be approved. It has been proposed to have a centralized school in Franklin township similar to that in Fairfield, and which has proved, according to state school records, to be one of the most active in any of the 88 counties in the state.

There are five schools in Franklin township now employing six teachers. These schools are: Summitville special, Millport, Rose Hill, Pleasant Valley and Silver Ridge. By having a centralized school it will be possible to employ but three teachers up to and including the eighth grade and one teacher in the upper grade, where a two year high school course would be taught.

On account of the improved road conditions that are to obtain in Franklin township within the next two years, the idea of centralized school facilities is growing. Many residents of Franklin township have become interested in the centralized school movement, but a school cannot be established without a vote of the electors.

DATE FIXED FOR DAMAGE CLAIMS

The county commissioners in determining to improve that section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, or inter-county highway No. 502 from the Y. & O. sub station to the intersection of the Lincoln highway at Apple's Corners, has set Feb. 8th at 12 o'clock central standard time to receive damage claims.

It is proposed to grade and surface 3.52 miles of this road during the coming spring and summer, and both the city and state is prepared to award contracts.

The official notice that has been issued by the commissioners concerning this hearing declares that unless claims for damages are filed by the time the hearing opens, such action will be considered as a waiver of all future demands that may be made by property owners in connection with the improvement of this section of road.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR COLL COMPANY

S. B. McClure has been appointed receiver for the Coll Preserving Co. of East Palestine, by Judge E. R. Eastman, following the filing of a petition in common pleas court by Attorney L. M. Kyes against the company wherein judgment is asked on a one-day judgment note for $100.

The petition relates that the company is not able to meet its obligations and "that a receiver should be appointed to take charge of and preserve the assets of the defendant."

Judge Eastman set the bond of the receiver at $5,000, and Mr. Kyes was appointed attorney for the receiver by the court.

FRANKLIN FARM BUREAU MEETS

An all-day meeting of the Franklin Township Farm Bureau opened at Millport at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning and the afternoon session began at 1:30 o'clock. Dinner was served at noon. The speakers during the day were County Agent Floyd Lower; County Service Manager Phil E. Heim; J. C. Pottorf of Salem and Dallas F. Hahn, purchasing agent of Homeworth. The activities of the Franklin township bureau for the year were discussed, and the program proposed by the county farm bureau was also talked over.

Appeals Often Test the Wit of Legislator.

Washington.—Your congressman's mail, which attains considerable volume during the session, is an odd assortment of letters, containing everything, from facts to fiction, from truth to trouble, from nuggets of suggestion to "nut" requests. If the legislator has a sense of humor he may come to enjoy the latter; the difficulty lies in knowing whether the writer really meant to be funny. Here is a letter that came to a certain legislator:

"I urge that a commission be appointed to go to Germany and lay the matter before the authorities there, pointing out that the surrender of Bergdoll by the Germans would add very materially in smoothing out the feeling engendered by the late war. Upon Germany's surrender of Bergdoll to the United States, I would have him shown at theaters in different parts of the country and the proceeds taken in at the door applied to the care and maintenance of some invalid overseas veteran. If such proceedings are contrary to any laws or treaties now existing, would suggest that such treaty action be taken as will make this possible."

Wants Male and Female Fish.

This letter happens to mention the slacker Bergdoll, although it might refer to any topic under the sun. One congressman tells of "an old fellow who wrote asking for a male and female fish, so that he could go into the business of raising fish, and he also wanted a law compelling people to eat fish at least once each week." Many a legislator is asked for a look of the President's hair to be raffled at some entertainment for charity.

"The funniest I've ever had," said this congressman "is from an ardent peace advocate, who wanted us to obtain from the barber of the secretary of state some hair trimmings. In this instance the secretary of state was Hughes, and the trimmings wanted were whiskers."

"I keep in a separate file the letters making odd requests," said another congressman. "Among them is one from a man in my state, although not a resident of my district, informing me that he wanted to come to Washington in order that he might settle a dispute. He was a stakeholder for two of his friends and wanted to know if it were possible for me to obtain him a railway pass, inasmuch as I had been discussing railroad legislation. He naively stated that he had no other reason for coming to Washington, that he was not particularly interested in what congress was doing, but he did want to settle the bet between his friends fairly and without prejudice. The subject of the wager was whether one of the paintings in the rotunda showed an Indian with five or six toes on one of his feet! At first I thought that it was a joke, but I found out later that the man was regarded as a sort of a Solomon in all disputes in the section in which he lived, and that he had written in good faith."

Answers Them All.

One legislator, instead of paying no attention to peculiar requests, takes pains to answer every one. "I make it a point to answer them because they might not seem as absurd to the writer as they do to me," he explained.

A congressman who has delivered lectures on patent law says that "not a week goes by without requests from inventors. The latest one asked if it is possible to patent a device that will prevent the juice from a grapefruit from squirting on one's shirt front."

He Almost Lost His Job

Unable to stand outdoor work in the cold weather—complaining constantly of a pain in the back—worn out, weak, practically worthless on the job.

That was what the foreman told him. "Jim," he said, "there must be something wrong with you. Have you ever had lumbago before or any kidney trouble?"

"It's probably your kidneys," the foreman tells him. "Well, there's an easy way of overcoming your trouble. Have you ever heard of Dr. Pierce's An-uric tablets? They cured me of kidney trouble a year ago, and I can't praise 'An-uric' too highly. I was just like you."

Wants Dawes to Forsake Pipe

Washington is wondering what Vice President Charles G. Dawes is going to do about the appeal made to him by Charles M. Fillmore (above), Indianapolis, secretary of the "No-Tobacco League" to set a good example for the country by abandoning his famous pipe. It is doubted if the vice president will comply with the request.

Uncle Sam's New Semi-Rigid Dirigible Largest; But It's Tiny Alongside of Rigid Ship, Los Angeles

The U. S. army's new semi-rigid dirigible, the RS-1, has successfully stood its first tests and is ready for service. It is the largest semi-rigid dirigible owned by Uncle Sam's forces, being three times as large as any other now in use. However, it is less than half the size of the Los Angeles, the navy's giant rigid air craft. Photos show the RS-1 coming out of its hangar at Scott field, Illinois, and a closeup of the control car, taken while the RS-1 was in its hangar between flights.

Wooden Bridges Give Way to Modernism.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Hundreds of old covered wooden bridges, many of them built before the Civil war, have stood staunchly despite their builders' lack of knowledge of many of the present-day principles of structural engineering, according to William S. Titus, chief engineer for the state department of highways.

Despite the highway department's efforts to replace the old covered bridges with modern steel and concrete structures more than a hundred of them remain in use.

While the old covered wooden bridge is not confined to Indiana it is probable more of them were built here than in any other state, Titus said. Timber was plentiful and there were many small streams to be crossed.

From records it is believed the first wooden bridge was built at Dublin in 1834. It was razed a few years ago for a steel structure. The Patoka bridge, on the road between Evansville and Vanderburg, replaced two years ago, was in use 70 years and scores of other bridges stood more than 60 years. The stone in the abutments of the Dublin bridge was Bedford limestone, and as there were no railroads in 1834, it is reasonably believed that it was hauled overland by oxen 150 miles.

Probably the longest covered bridge in the state is at Matamoras. Two of the best preserved bridges are at Rushville and Connersville.

Engineers of pioneer days had a two-fold purpose in covering their bridges, Titus said, explaining that the covering prevented rain, water and snow accumulating in the bed of the bridge, and increasing the deterioration of the floor, and to provide a shelter for persons caught on the highway during heavy rain or snow storms.

Romance and tragedy are woven into the lore of the old bridges. In their shelter lovers out buggy riding stopped for a kiss, and many a lone wayfarer was beaten, sometimes to death, and robbed by highwaymen who lurked within the cavernous passageways.

It is significant that all the covered bridges were built to cross the stream at right angles, and this accounts for the almost invariable bend in the roadways approaching covered bridges. By building directly across the stream instead of at an angle the builders saved material and expense. Direct traffic lines are necessary today and sometimes a bridge is built at a very pronounced angle across the stream.

The output of crude oil has been fairly uniform in Burma for twelve years.

Horse Meat Is French Luxury as Costs Soar

Paris.—Horse meat, formerly "the poor man's beefsteak," has become a French luxury. Scarcity of butcherable animals is given as the cause of its enormous increase in price.

One pound of choice horse meat at the local markets recently was quoted 9.50 francs—about 40 cents. Pork chops could be had for 8.50, roast beef for 9 and mutton for 7.50.

Besides the gradual disappearance of horses "on the hoof" available for the markets, a tax of 1 franc 25 centimes per pound placed on the meat was said to have influenced higher prices.

Horse meat is recommended by physicians for persons suffering from tuberculosis and all diseases of the blood.

The expenditure of the state of South Australia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, are estimated at $517,000,000.

Taxicabs in which the passengers ride in front and the drivers in the rear, have appeared in Germany.

Semester examinations were held in the Newell high school Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The second semester will open Monday when new courses of study will be offered.

Cleveland Quint Wins 29-21 Decision Over High Passers

Russick's Scoring In Last Half Puts Adams Cagers Out In Front

Blue and White Collects Four Field Goals in First Two Periods and Two in Last; Visitors Hold One-point Lead at Intermission; Return Clash With Lisbon Carded for Lorah's Five Tonight.

RUSSICK of Cleveland John Adams did his stuff and the Fifth City scholastic cage contingent last night pulled out with a 29 to 21 victory over the Blue and White on the local court.

Although in probably less than half a game the star of the Cleveland outfit dropped in four field goals and a couple of fouls, for a little more than a third of his team's points while his cohorts were singularly successful in throwing up a barrier between the basket.

Four field goals were registered by the Ceramic City lads in the first half and this figure cut exactly in two in the final held with Guard Paul English the only member of the Lorah combine able to solve the scoring combination.

Andras was the big punch in the Cleveland attack in the first half. He rolled in four field goals and a foul for nine points before the intermission and at the same time managed to collect three personal fouls. One more would have sent him off the floor. As a result his activities were curtailed to a great extent in the second half as he successfully dodged Referee Will Watkins' whistle.

A field goal by Forward Kopla, a foul by Pollock and a free toss by Russick, who took Center Counterman's place in the waning minutes of the first half, gave the visitors 13 points, or one more than the score collected by the locals.

Of the 12 points made by high in that half, Hamilton was responsible for five, two field goals and a foul. Forward Wilson made his only field goal of the game in this half and gave way to Helmie Delbrick.

Pusey likewise dropped in a lonely two-pointer, which, with a foul in the final half, represented his total for the evening. Three fouls were contributed by Guard English.

The battle throughout the first half was fought from whistle to whistle with the locals keeping step with Adams all the way. But the Blue and White scorers failed to function in the second half, making only nine points while the Fifth City delegation raised the ante to 16.

Center Bough played a great game for the Blue and White but had to leave the scrap in the last half after four fouls had been chalked up against his efforts. He was supplanted by Allison.

High's defense was working fairly well but Russick and his gang didn't play the ball under the basket all the time. They took long chances and made good on some of them. The floor apparently suited their style and they pressed every advantage.

For the first time this season Lorah's quint will leave the home court tonight to meet Lisbon in a return match. The locals easily trimmed the county seaters in a recent clash here. A special car will take the team and rooters to Lisbon this evening.

In the preliminary to last night's clash the Christian church team of the Sunday school league nosed out a 25 to 23 decision over the High Reserves.

CHAMP ADMIRES ZIVIC Wins Decision Over English Welter

"Gets There in Hurry, Doesn't She," Lenglen's Comment.

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT. ANNES, Jan. 23.—Suzanne Lenglen admitted today a degree of admiration for the tennis ability of Helen Wills, American star, who has come to France to test the mettle of the French star.

"She doesn't seem to move but she gets there in a hurry, doesn't she?" said Suzanne to an International News Service reporter, discussing Miss Wills' match with Mrs. C. F. Aeschliman yesterday. And Suzanne spoke as though she meant it.

Miss Wills smiled when she was told what Miss Lenglen had said of her play.

"I thought I jumped around a good deal," said Miss Wills. "As a matter of fact I was bothered by the extreme cold weather. I had all I could do to keep warm, let alone play tennis. I thought the Riviera was warmer."

Miss Wills denied that her failure to remove her sweater while playing Mrs. Aeschliman was a psychological tactic, aimed to show her opponent her confidence in victory.

"I didn't dare to take off my sweater for fear of catching cold," she said. "Perhaps it will be warmer this afternoon when I play Miss Contoslavos and I will be able to play real tennis."

Miss Wills' unobtrusive manner and her cool and calm manner upon the courts still amazes the Riviera fans, who, having been taught by Suzanne to expect nerves and flashy play, can't imagine how the American girl manages to accomplish so much with so little effort.

The dopesters pick Miss Wills to defeat Miss Contoslavos, the Greek champion, this afternoon, and believe that she will have little difficulty in doing so, for this far Miss Wills has displayed tennis ability that is only equaled by that of Miss Lenglen.

Miss Wills, the protégée of Miss Lenglen, is expected to defeat Mrs. Cade in the other semi-final match. Thus the fans are looking forward to tomorrow's final with great anticipation, for Miss Wills defeated Miss Vlastos in the finals at the last Olympics and the French girl is set for revenge.

They Start Early. Speaking of the thoroughbred, it is a matter of considerable interest that two of the present leading jockeys are mere "babes" in the woods. Willie Munden, now riding at Tia Juana, is only 15 years of age, while Robert Haviland is only 16. In no other sport, perhaps, can one reach the top as swiftly, nowadays, as in the riding game.

Adopt Short Hose. We were greatly interested in a recent dispatch from England which stated that women tennis players there were wearing shock socks to add speed to their footwork on the hard courts. We have "short socks" in this country, too, but they are generally rolled down and worn everywhere.

Zivic Wins Decision Over English Welter

Judges' Ruling Not Entirely Popular With Fans; Pittsburgh Boxer Has Big Round in Fourth.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—They pulled another of those humorous decisions out of the hat at Madison Square Garden last night, but this one was not without its humanitarian aspect. It was alleged that Tommy Milligan, English champion, had finished second to Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh, at the end of ten rounds and, although the populace voiced violent disagreement with the verdict, I am convinced that it was all for the best.

A verdict for Milligan, even though earned, would only have led up to a championship meeting with Mickey Walker and there is a law against murder, strictly enforced here whenever they become convinced that the perpetrator should have known better in the first place.

As a matter of fact, it was the original plan to have Walker and Milligan take a flier with the judges last night but the state commission ruled that Walker's "sore toe" was bound to interfere with his breathing or something. Yet there are those who claim that our worthy commission serves no helpful purpose.

Milligan is just one of those eager, ambitious young men who persist in blocking with the point of the chin. Walker would have chastised him severely, I fear.

It should have been a matter of record that Zivic did not. A draw would have been a fair decision. Judged upon the old point for point basis, Zivic was the winner, since his execution was heavier and he had Milligan almost out in the fourth round. But this system no longer prevails here and a round-for-round resume showed Milligan winning five, Zivic four and one, the ninth, being even.

Milligan started with a rush and carried the first two rounds, Zivic being unable to untrack himself and getting a thorough shellacking. Zivic was all over his man in the third, however, and almost stopped him with a left hook to the jaw in the fourth. Jack led throughout the fifth, also, but bowed down and let Milligan take the play away from him in the sixth, seventh and eighth. The final round went to Zivic by a shade.

Funny thing about Milligan. He blocks so well with his jaw, yet can't take a punch without weaving around like a stage drunk.

As for Zivic, there is only one thing he won't stand for. He has been known to object to being hit with paving blocks in the benches. Neither is a champion or will be.

In the semi-final, California Joe Lynch lasted through ten rounds with Bushy Graham, thereby creating a dual mystery. No one knew how he outpointed Phil Rosenberg out on the Coast. No one knew why he lasted the limit last night. Graham, leading all the way, dropped Lynch with a left hook in the fourth round and should have finished it.

He didn't and that's the only thing I hold against him. Lynch is just the kind of fighter who ought to be finished before he starts.

LEAGUE TEAMS PLAN BENEFIT

Double Bill Arranged for 'Y' Court Jan. 29.

Arrangements are under way for the benefit clash to be staged by Sunday school league teams on Friday evening, January 29, on the Y. M. C. A. court.

The Methodists will tangle with the Christians in the opening tilt of the two-tilt bill and the Penn Avenue M. E. and the First Presbyterians will mix in the windup.

Funds from the games will be used in defraying league expenses.

Sport of Kings. Despite the continued activities of certain misguided reformers in Ohio and one or two other states, the "sport of kings" continues to thrive. The winter meeting at New Orleans, Tia Juana and Havana have been the most successful in their history and the forthcoming sessions at Miami and Tampa promise great sport. Entries to the big eastern futurities, Kentucky Derby and stakes for aged horses indicate that racing in Maryland, New York, Kentucky, Illinois, Nebraska, Utah, Nevada and other western states, to say nothing of the Dominion of Canada in 1926 will be the most spectacular ever. The love of horse racing, on the part of modern folk, is an inheritance of centuries and cannot be downed by alleged uplifters. There's one thing can be said about a race horse—no one ever could get him to cheat by slipping a bundle of greenbacks under his pillow.

Old Saying Gone Wrong. That old saying: "Like father, like son," seems to have gone awry in the case of young Bob Fitzsimmons. As one writer stated, a bit facetiously, perhaps, "all young Bob inherited from Ruby Robert was his name."

Await Paolino's Arrival. Paolino, known as the Basque woodchopper, is slated to arrive in this country shortly, and boxing fans are eagerly awaiting his appearance. If he is anything like the Spallas, Giroux and other mitt men of Latin persuasion we don't think he'll create much disturbance here.

HOREMANS WILL CHALLENGE HOPPE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—It was announced today that Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, who held the 13.2 half line title for a trifle more than a month recently, will come to New York within the next week to complete arrangements for his challenge to Willie Hoppe at 18.1 half line. Hoppe, once the champion of all styles of half line, has held the 18.1 title without challenge for many years.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TILTS TONIGHT

Two Sunday School league contests are scheduled for tonight on the Y. M. C. A. floor. Chester Presbyterians will play the U. P. five at 7:15, with the M. P.'s and the Park Boulevards meeting in the final.

"Going to the Dogs." The whole country literally will "go to the dogs" on February 12 and 13 when the Westminster club stages its Golden Jubilee at Madison Square Garden, New York City. A grand total of $15,000 in coin, cups and blue ribbons will be given to the lucky owners. It is said that this will be the richest bench show ever staged anywhere.

A. B. C. Big Event. It looks as though the A. B. C. Congress which will be held in Toledo, O., March 6 to April 5, will be an epoch making affair. Prize money reaching a total of nearly $100,000 teams are expected to enter the five-man event and it is interesting to note that 700 will come from Toledo.

The Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

Let's Get This Straight-- What Jewett Means by a "New-Day" Car

It means a car with instant acceleration—a flashing "pick-up" that shoots you through traffic quick as thought.

But it means, also, equally quick "stopping"—the instant, unfailing, cushioned stop possible only with Paige-Hydraulic 4-wheel brakes.

It means, too, wider, freer, clearer vision than any former car has ever had—almost complete elimination of the deadly "blind spot."

It means a generous interior roominess—roomy comfort rivaling that of the biggest sedans. And it means, too, a quality Sedan, Paige-Built.

THERE have been speedy cars before this—economical cars—comfortable cars—easily steered cars—quickly accelerated cars—but until The New-Day Jewett there never was one car embodying every last one of these essential qualities! Three minutes after you take the wheel of this New-Day Jewett—you'll know that Jewett, and only Jewett, has built such a truly new-day car!

NEW NASH CAR IS EXHIBITED

"Enclosed Car" Motor Remarkable Engineering Achievement.

An exhibit that is attracting pronounced local interest is the new Nash "enclosed car" motor being shown to the public for the first time. It was initially introduced at the New York Motor show and proved to be an outstanding attraction. The reason for the discussion centering around this engineering development is the fact that Nash has here approached and solved the problem of providing power, speed, acceleration, quietness, and long life in a passenger car engine from a standpoint entirely new to the industry. In fact Nash engineers have reversed precedent in seeking to improve upon the performance standards of today.
Since the beginning of the industry it has been general practice for automobile engineers to develop their motors upon the basis of the requirements for touring car models. Once they had achieved satisfactory performance, they employed the same motor in the production of their enclosed bodies. The result was that the standard of performance attained in open cars was never reached with the far heavier enclosed models. And buyers have long been accustomed to console themselves with the thought that no enclosed car could be expected to perform like an open car.
But that was not necessarily true, and Nash has deliberately set aside custom and engineered a motor specially for the requirements of enclosed models. In fact, instead of building the performance abilities of the motor up to the lightest car of the line, Nash has created a motor to power the heaviest model and to give that model the kind and calibre of live, alert, powerful performance that has hitherto been linked only with the open car.

"Merry Widow," Stage Hit, on Screen at Ceramic Theatre

Erich von Stroheim's production of "The Merry Widow" brings to the screen the film version of a stage-faring that made theatrical history. Literally, millions of people saw the romantic stage play, when companies toured the country for many seasons some years ago. And its fame has spread to those who were not so fortunate.
